OPENS VEIN WITH A SAFETY PIN

Nurse Hearing Thiery Groaning Enters and Finds Bed Covered With Blood

Called Doctor Who Made Blood Transfusion From Special Policeman

Grand Jury Which Meets Early in September Will Be Asked to Indict Him

SOMERVILLE, Mass., Aug. 18.—Dr. Raymond D. Thiery, who is under arrest at the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, David M. Nobles, in this city on Aug. 8, attempted suicide during the night, by opening a vein in his forearm with a safety pin.

Early today a nurse heard him groaning and on investigation found the bed covered with blood. She called a doctor who made an immediate blood transfusion from a special policeman at the hospital. The belief was expressed at the hospital that Dr. Thiery, although in a much weakened condition, would survive.

Assistant District Attorney Bushnell of Middlesex county said that Dr. Thiery had asserted that the vein was opened with a safety razor blade which he concealed yesterday. No blade was found in the room, however, and the authorities are satisfied that a pin discovered in the bed was used. An envelope addressed to the Somerville chief of police and containing personal letters not touching on the case was found in Thiery's night clothing.

Nobles was shot dead as he entered the home of his father-in-law where both he and Thiery lived. Thiery was found in the cellar with slight knife wounds in his arm and an injury to his head, sustained, he said, in a battle with a burglar who had shot Nobles.

Thiery's arraignment on the murder charge had been expected within two weeks. The grand jury which meets early in September, will be asked to indict him.

Frank "Podge" Murphy of Lowell, and John Bray of Boston, two veteran sailors, will swim from the Boston Light to Revere beach next Sunday afternoon for a side bet of $500 and a cup offered by Henry Oakey. The two old-timers have been keen competitors for years and this race is intended to settle the score for once and for all. Bray is 61 years of age and regarded as a sturdy swimmer as ever dipped an arm in Boston harbor. "Podge" has beaten many of the good ones and has a long way to go before he can be figured in the "has been" class. The start from the Light will be made around noon and the swimmers expect to make a land by 7 o'clock.

381 TAKEN IN LARGEST ROUND-UP IN HISTORY OF RICHMOND

Negro Excursionists Arrested Without Disorder—Three Patrol Wagons Meet Boat at Pier—Eight Trips Required to Transport All

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 18.—The largest round-up in the history of the Richmond police department—381 negro excursionists—was accomplished late last night without disorder. Only fifty of the prisoners obtained bail during the night.

The negroes were members and supporters of the South Side Strikers' Socialist and Literary club of Richmond, which had sponsored a Sunday river excursion to Hopewell to raise funds for its library. While there, twenty of the men entered the store of Nick Limbit and, he charged, seized about $150 worth of watermelons, tobacco, fruits and candy, not to mention sundry other articles and damage to fixtures.

J. P. Hebban, town sergeant of Hopewell, unable to handle the situation with his limited force, rushed to Richmond and swore out a blanket warrant. Richmond police met the excursion boat upon its return and held the negroes aboard while three patrol wagons assembled. Eight trips were required to transport all of them to the police station.

Harold Johnston in Serious Condition at Long Branch, N. J. Hospital

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 18.—Harold Johnston, of Bedford, today was reported in a serious condition at the Monmouth Memorial hospital as the result of having been shot in the head yesterday by members of the government customs patrol during a rum running attempt. Johnston is the second man shot by the patrol in as many days. Gilbert Crane of Kearny, having been wounded off Long Branch on Saturday morning during a similar attempt. Crane also is reported in a serious condition at the Memorial hospital.

Johnston was discovered by the patrol off Kearsburg Beach, in a boat with three men. The patrol boat opened fire when the rum runners refused to stop. Johnston was wounded and left overboard, his companions escaping while the customs men were rescuing him from the water.

Activities of the customs patrol have been increased during the past few days by the addition of several speedy boats equipped with machine guns.

Third Member of Party is in Serious Condition in Hospital

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Two men are dead and a third is in a critical condition in a hospital here as the result of drinking a poisonous beverage here last night. The dead are John Branch, proprietor of a barber shop in which the drinking bout was staged, and John Spriggs. The third man, as yet unidentified, is in a serious condition in a hospital.

The police said the three had been drinking whiskey and gin all night and then when the supply became exhausted they began to drink a liquid which was composed of carbon remover and hair tonic.

LOSS OF REVENUE BY STREET RAILWAY
A loss in revenue totalling nearly $100,000 was suffered by the local division of the street railway company during the first seven months of this year, according to a statement by Manager Maurice E. McCormick today.

To offset this loss, the local division has curtailed service in so far as is possible without rearranging schedules, has rearranged its schedule of track work to eliminate expenditures

THEY'RE ALL IN THE SAME BOAT NOW
The day of the $50 fine for illegally selling beer has passed, as far as the local district court is concerned. When Solomon Guerin was called to answer a complaint of this nature this morning, Judge Enright imposed a fine of $100, saying that he was through fining defendants $50 in view of the fact that the liquor is being dispensed here in wholesale quantities.

Until today, it had been customary to fine beer sellers $50, and other violators of the prohibition amendment $100. With the new ruling becoming effective, however, the dealers in the so-called "lighter" beverages will be dealt with on the same terms as the rotten booze now so liberally dispensed.

Cunningham, clawed and scratched, managed to get the bird in a wire fence, where it was killed.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Controversy Over Junk Purchased by Dealer From Water Department

Special Meeting of the Board Held This Noon—Business Transacted

The board of public service met this noon in special session. The city solicitor appeared relative to the trouble of James Day, who bought some junk from the water department. Mr. W. Gardner, superintendent of the water department, claimed Day owes the city $26 for some old junk purchased some time ago and halted removal of other junk pending settlement of the claim. Mr. Day claims this is a separate contract and old agreements should not react against him. The city solicitor and chairman of the board sided verbally with the junk dealer. Both said the old bill should be referred to the city solicitor to collect.

Day was given a contract Friday under which he is buying junk from the water department. Mr. Meley agreed with Mr. Murphy that the legal but not the moral aspect could only be considered by the board. Mr. Day was authorized to proceed while the water works superintendent was instructed to take legal steps to collect what he claims is due the department.

Commitments and receipts in the water department are $10,000 behind this time last year. John W. Crawford, chief clerk in the water department, told the board. The statistics were asked to guide the board in making a decision on the suggestion made by Mr. Meley last week that $20,000 be borrowed and 20 men be put to work on water main extensions in addition to the regular department laborers.

Councillor Daniel P. Cosgrove appeared to urge sidewalk repairs and replacements. The matter was referred to the superintendent of streets with orders to alleviate conditions.

ALIENISTS EXAMINE MCCOY WHILE POLICE SEEK NEW EVIDENCE

Officials Charge Former Prize Fighter With Making Two Confessions—District Attorney Predicts Indictment of McCoy for Murder Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 18.—While police today searched the city for new evidence supporting the two confessions they allege "Kid McCoy" has already made to the slaying of Mrs. Theresa Mors in the 'McCoy-Mors' apartment here early last Wednesday, alienists under orders from the district attorney were hoping to conclude an examination of the former prize fighter designed to forestall any contention by his attorneys that he was and is incapable of making any true confession.

The alleged confession was revealed yesterday when the district attorney's investigators announced they had the name of a Hollywood friend of McCoy's, who met the ex-pugilist less than half an hour after the shooting of Mrs. Mors and heard what he then assumed was a wild, drunken tale of a woman slain and a half-dozen other persons yet to be slaid.

Detectives early today were trying to serve a subpoena on the witness, commanding him to appear before the grand jury tomorrow. Until they find him, it was announced, his name will be withheld.

Meanwhile the district attorney was prepared to go before the grand jury with McCoy's alleged confession to his sister, Mrs. Jennie Thomas, his own admission that he was in the apartment when a bullet killed Mrs. Mors, and the testimony of friends of the woman, who said she feared McCoy would kill her if she quit him.

Since the day of his arrest on suspicion of murder, when he told police that Mrs. Mors shot herself in the presence, and that his wounding of three persons in a shopping district shooting affray several hours later, was due to shock and grief over her death, the one-time Beau Brummel of the prize ring has sat sullenly in his cell, observing the advice of his attorneys not to talk about the case.

Tomorrow the district attorney predicts, the grand jury will find McCoy guilty for the murder of Mrs. Mors, notwithstanding the verdict of a coroner's jury which last week admitted itself unable to decide whether the wealthy antique dealer's wife died by her own hand or by the hand of another.

MOVEMENT ON FOOT TO OUST TWO COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Two Candidates Waging Vigorous Campaign to Prevent Re-election of Cutting and Wardwell—One Candidate Bears Same Name as Present Official

Two Middlesex county commissioners are to be elected this fall, to serve for terms of four years each. The present incumbents, Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of Weston, and Mr. Walter C. Wardwell of Cambridge, who have held office since 1915 and 1917, respectively, are candidates for re-election for terms of four years more.

The even tenor of the way of well-known Middlesex county office-holders in the past, are rarely disturbed by ambitious men intruding themselves in the pathway of the "regulars" and endeavoring to interrupt that procession, as well as taking the lead away from the hand-picked candidate. But that was in the old days.

Middlesex county voters are facing a genuine campaign this fall, and not many members of the electorate know the story. There is a concerted attempt on the part of well-known G.O.P. citizens in the eastern part of the county centering in and around Boston, Cambridge and Somerville, to prevent the re-nomination of County Commissioners Cutting and Wardwell at the primaries, to be held on Tuesday, Sept. 3.

Various reasons have been given by leading county political lights in the G. O. P. ranks. The action of the county commissioners in declining to order the discharge of a certain undisciplined inmate of a county penal institution, after a bitter contest had been waged for the release of the person involved from local control, is said to have caused strong criticism in certain legal quarters where the initial accident involving the dead man. While going toward Newburyport on the turnpike yesterday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Goldberg of Roxbury, saw Vasilios lying unconscious in the middle of the highway. Near him was a motorcycle, with one of the tires flat. How he came to be unconscious could not be learned, but investigating authorities suspect that he was struck by a machine.

SEES REVIVAL IN WORLD TRADE

Stabilization of European Economic Situation Predicted by A. G. Goldsmith

Chief of European Division of Dept. of Commerce Discusses Dawes Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Stabilization of the European economic situation with consequent revival in world trade was predicted today by Alan G. Goldsmith, chief of the European division of the department of commerce, as a result of the approval of the Dawes plan at London.

Goldsmith, who was one of the experts associated with the Dawes committee which formulated proposals for financial stabilization in Germany and economic reorganization in Europe generally, said increased exports of European goods resulting from improved conditions would bring about sharper competition in outlining markets, but at the same time a raising of the consuming power of the entire world, particularly the disturbed areas of Europe. Such a revival in Europe, he asserted, would naturally stimulate American exports.

STRUCK OFFICER AND CUT HIS UNIFORM

Patrolman John Murphy, testifying against Walter Karkota, whom he arrested for drunkenness yesterday, said the defendant cut his uniform coat in two places with a sharp instrument and struck him in the eye while waiting for the police patrol to arrive at the scene of the arrest. The additional charge of assaulting an officer was preferred against Karkota and this morning he was found guilty of both counts, and continued in $100 until tomorrow. The court originally revoked a suspended sentence to the state farm, but later ordered the continuance to allow Officer Murphy to seek compensation for his injured garment.

WEENY ATE ABOUT A DOLLAR AND NINETY CENTS' WORTH.

While Charley Monkey went to the hall game, Weeny and the Twins missed his lemonade-ice cream-peanut-popsicle stand for him. They were kept very busy. First Andy Antelope came and bought two packages of chewing gum. Then Bobby Ostrich came and bought a sandwich (which he ate at one bite). Next Tommy Cockatoo bought an ice cream cone and after that so many people came it kept all three of them very busy. Weeny kept one eye on the peanut bowl, to be sure that some of them were left. After a while customers stopped coming and the elephant and the Twins had time to sit down. "Now then," said Weeny, wiping his face with his big hanky, "Charley Monkey told us to eat all we wanted and to stay as long as we liked, so I'm going to begin by eating all the peanuts in the peanut bowl and end by drinking three gallons of orange-ade and then going to sleep. Help yourself, Twins, and don't say a word for an hour and sixty-five minutes, please. I'm going to be busy." So he started in and all you could

SOUSA'S BAND COMES TO LOWELL NEXT MONTH

Lieutenant Commander John Philip Sousa and his famous band will tour again this season for more than 20 weeks in a journey which began in Wilmington, Del., on June 21 last, and which ends with two concerts in Greater New York on November 16. Lowell gets him as an extra attraction in the Steinert Concert series, at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium, on the night of Monday, September 22. This is the 32nd consecutive season that Sousa has appeared at the head of his band, and during the tour he will celebrate his 70th birthday. Sousa's band deserves to be classed as the most thoroughly American institution of music. The Sousa organization is the only instrumental musical aggregation, either band or orchestra, which has been able to maintain itself without subsidies. An average of two millions of people a year for the past 31 years have kept Sousa's band before the public because Sousa has created programs which have interested and entertained the public. The public has been generous to Sousa and he has responded by bringing to it the world's best music. The Sousa programs this year will be more varied than ever before. Always they have contained the two elements of substance and novelty. This year the musical fare will range from the Strauss "tone-poems," "Don Juan" to a characteristic Sousa interpretation of the latest syncopation. In between the two extremes are a Sousa suite, a new Sousa march, a Sousa fox-trot (the first fox trot he has written) and the annual Sousa humoresque. Sousa's band this season, as for several seasons past, will consist of more than 100 musicians and soloists. The soloists this year, for the most part favorites of other seasons, will include Marjorie Moody and Nora John Carr, clarinetist; Fauchault, sopranos; Winifred Bambrack, harpist; John Dolan, cornetist; George Curry, xylophonist; and include Marjorie Moody and Nora John Carr, clarinetist.

in bowing to the wishes of New England capitalism, by using the office of governor of Massachusetts to crush the Boston police strike in 1919, won for him the first sign of real recognition, not alone from the capitalists of New England, but Wall Street itself recognized immediately that Coolidge was a man after its own heart."

The communist candidate said of Davis: "He is the Morgan lawyer, picked by the House of Morgan to be their successor to Elhu Root, Davis has from West Virginia, the land of the open shop coal companies. He has accepted a big fee from these companies, so that his sympathies lie close to home. While he was ambassador to England, he served in good stead the interests of United States Steel, Standard Oil, Bell Telephone and the Chicago packers."

Discussing what he described as La Follette's plan of "purifying" the government and breaking up the trusts, Foster declared that "the socialists, the petty bourgeois, the American Federation of Labor, labor aristocracy, will prove to be the last bulwark of capitalism. When the big capitalist parties are no longer able to delude the masses and to mobilize them for political action against their interests, then the La Follette and the August Johnsons will be on hand with their policy of reforming the capitalist system to suit their own middle class desires and to prevent the workers from taking effective revolutionary action."

TRAVEL BLOCKED IN PRINCE STREET

Applicants for licenses as operators of motor vehicles were discommoded today because of the fact that Prince street, where they wait in line for their turn with the examiners, is being ripped up by a public utility corporation. The whole length of the street is being ripped by a wide trench, the company intending to relay the main there.

The street will be under repairs until Sept. 12, according to the record of the street department. In the meantime, with a view to relieving the traffic congestion around city hall, it is quite likely that the motor vehicle department will again have to use Dutton street, which thoroughfare was in use when the branch registry was located in the Mongeau building.

PLANNING ANNUAL PLAYGROUND PAGEANT

Workers on the city playgrounds this morning were in conference in the park department offices at city hall with Arthur Sullivan, director of playground work. The meeting was principally for the purpose of outlining plans for the annual pageant, which will mark the end of the playground season. The definite date has not been announced.

"A Trip to the Isle of Dolls," the title of the 1924 pageant gives a key to what may be expected of the playgrounds children, directed by a corps of capable and enthusiastic workers. Last year the "Pageant of Nations" was a great success, and this year's offering is expected to eclipse that.

SLIGHT EARTHQUAKE SHOCK IN MALTA

VALETTA, Malta, Aug. 18.—A slight earthquake shock was felt in Malta at 8:28 o'clock last evening. The tremor was noticeable here.

RIALTO THEATRE

The stunt king, Richard Talmadge, will be seen at the Rialto starting today in his very latest thriller, "Fast Company," a picture that is described as a comedy riot. Of course anyone who has seen Talmadge does not have to be told twice that Talmadge's middle name is Action, spelled with a capital "A." "Fast Company" is the latest picture that he made before he broke his neck doing some of his hair-raising stunts. In "Fast Company" he is seen as a college youth who is leading a rather wild life and traveling with fast company. He is thrown out of his own home as well as college, and with but a hundred dollars in his pockets he goes out to face the world. He falls in love with an actress and this starts all sorts of strange complications. A thrilling fight in the prize ring in which Talmadge is one of the participants, is one of the features of the film. If you like action and plenty of it, see Talmadge in this picture. He is ably supported by a splendid cast that includes Mildred Harris and Sheldon Lewis.

"The Man Who Waited," which is the companion feature, tells a story about a youth who searches many years for the culprits who were responsible for the death of his father. He finds one of them only to learn that he is the father of the girl with whom he is in love! Here's a novel situation!

Another exciting round of H. C. Wittwer's "Fighting Blood," a good comedy and Fox News are also included in this lengthy and splendid program.

MERRIMACK SQUARE
"The Bedroom Window," a William de Mille Paramount production, is now playing at the Merrimack Square theatre for a run of four days. May McAvoy, Malcolm McGregor, Ricardo Cortez, Robert Edeson, George Fawcett and Ethel Wales are all featured in leading roles.

The story, written especially for the screen by Clara Beranger, is a mystery-melodrama-murder-mystery story on the order of "The Accutal" and "Grumpy," but even more novel and startling than either of those successes. The second feature for the first part of the week is "The Girl of the Limberlost," adapted from Gene Stratton Porter's noted novel, with an all-star cast. The latest International News and an excellent comedy complete the bill.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT ON ANXIOUS SEAT

The school department is looking forward hopefully to the meeting of the city council scheduled for tomorrow night, expecting some action on a letter sent some time ago, asking for funds for seven new portable school-houses and also for the completion of a badly needed unfinished room in the Sycamore Street school.

Portables, made by the department of lands and buildings, cost from $2200 to $2700 each. School authorities say three are sorely needed for the opening of the September term at the Morton school while the others would be distributed to schools where congestion is most noted.

AUTO BADLY DAMAGED

An automobile owned by Alphonse Racicot of 12 Willie street was badly damaged yesterday afternoon when it was in collision with a machine operated by Joseph Keough of 130 Mt. Pleasant street, Roxbury. The accident occurred at Pawtucket and Fletcher streets.

How Pains in Side and Dragging Down Feelings Were Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Massena, New York.—"I had terrible pains in both my sides and a dragging-down feeling that affected me so that I could hardly walk, and I got run-down. A friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it and I have taken it with the best results. I do my housework and also some outdoor work on the farm. The Vegetable Compound has given me back my health and I cannot praise it enough. I am perfectly willing that you should use these facts if my letter will help other women who still suffer."—Mrs. DELBERT BUSH, R. F. D. 1, Massena, N.Y.

The spirit of helpfulness shown in the letters we are constantly publishing is worthy of notice. These women know by experience what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do. Your troubles are the same as theirs.

Thaw Joins Church and Becomes Town Fireman in "Comeback" Fight

LATEST PICTURE OF HARRY K. THAW

MRS. A. D. KENNEY AND TWO CHILDREN, THAW'S NEAREST NEIGHBORS

To the Officers and Members of the Charley Rouss Fire Co.:

I respectfully make application for membership in the Charley Rouss Fire Co., Inc. I will be governed by the Constitution and By-Laws of the company, and pledge my support for its future welfare and success. I am not a member of any other fire company in Winchester, Va.

Approved: Respectfully submitted,

W. E. Huntsberry H. K. Thaw

THAW'S APPLICATION TO JOIN THE CHARLEY ROUSS FIRE COMPANY.

Town All Upset

His advent already has torn the town into opposing factions, bids fair to wreck the leading church, has occasioned a demonstration of the hooded knight and precipitated a social war.

Thaw is in earnest about becoming a leading citizen. He has attended and works to join the Presbyterian church, subscribed to all the leading charities and enrolled in the Charley Rouss volunteer fire department, a leading social organization.

Old line conservatives view his success with horror. The church deacons have been criticized for reserving a special pew for him. The clergyman, the Rev. R. P. MacFaden, has been berated for dining three times with Thaw and then inviting him to membership.

MacFaden has left town for his vacation and the burden of deciding the case has fallen on his substitute, the Rev. W. H. Woods.

"I just always like to tear up your dock by bringing in a disturbing element," Woods said. "Still, sinners must be reached by the church."

When the millionaire put in a crisp new $20 yellowback in the collection plate on his first day, other members, not to be outdone, made large donations, many of them topping his offering.

The trouble started when J. B. Russell, Union bank president, church warden and social leader, called on the Thaws. His visit opened the way for MacFaden and others and gave his enemies a chance to say he had allowed wealth to overcome family reserve.

Mayor-elect Dr. J. F. Ward has tried to bridge the gap among his townsmen. He served notice Thaw must be given a square deal, but at the same time too great familiarity must be discouraged. He believes that "the prayers of the righteous availeth much," but doesn't favor mixing them up with prayers of the unrepentant and untried.

That Kenilworth may not become the scene of city folk's high life orgies, the Ku Klux Klan paraded to let the community know it intended to check up.

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, hearing that Thaw was going to stock his farm with pigs, rabbits, chickens and other domestic beasts took alarm. Mrs. Robert Ward, a P. C. A. president, recalled that Thaw was accused of biting rabbits, and set the society's 50 members on watch.

Miss Augusta Conrad made a visit to Kenilworth and saw a cat running about without a tail. Her excitement abated when it proved to be one of a bob-tailed variety. She has promised to have Thaw arrested if animals on his place come to grief.

Becomes a Fireman

This city of 7000 souls which has never had, even the excitement of seeing a street car nearly collapsed when directors of the Rouss fire company admitted the famous stranger. Every Virginia town prides itself on its fire companies. Now the South Zane and Friendship companies are accusing the Rouss of taking in the rich Pittsburgher for the sake of his money. J. H. Dunn, engineer, says if the new member can't make the grade and become a good smoke-eater, out he'll go, money or no.

But while Winchester's tea parties are affluence with gossip and the business men stand about, debating the problem, Thaw himself is having no picnic.

He keeps a secretary at the George Washington hotel to act as a buffer between him and the country folk who look upon him as a bonanza. They come from miles around to offer everything from bound dogs to antiques for sale.

Three country maids have offered to forsake the milk stool to become his bride. All day the curious besiege him for just a glimpse, a word or a signature in a name album.

The way he meets his problem is illustrated by an incident at the People's drug store. Two girls were slipping sodas when one said:

"I'd love to see this man Thaw."

The other answered: "I wouldn't. I'd be scared to death. He might kill me."

Thaw stepped up and, touching the frightened one on the arm said:

"I'm Harry Thaw. I killed a man in a just cause and I have no regret. But I'll never harm anyone else—especially a little girl."

Mother Often With Him

Behind him is the ever-faithful A. J. Connolly, four years his personal attendant and bodyguard. Usually his secretary accompanies him on one side while his mother walks on the other.

It is she who will win the town. Though 52 years old, she still looks after her boy. Big, broad, white-haired, majestic woman, slightly bent by years and tribulation, she is

CY YOUNG TWIRLS WELL FOR OLD TIMERS

CLEVELAND, August 18.—Scoring seven runs in the fourth inning, the Old Timers' Professional Baseball team, composed of players who participated in the National and American leagues a decade or more ago, defeated a team composed of old time sandlotters 8 to 2, in a five inning game yesterday.

The game was the feature of Amateur day, sponsored by the Cleveland Amateur Baseball and Athletic association, to raise funds to provide medical aid for sandlotters and finance youngsters' teams.

Cy Young, the only pitcher to win 500 games in the major leagues, and "Chlor" Zimmer, his battery mate on the old Cleveland "Spiders," formed the battery for the old big leaguers for two innings. That Young retains much of his cunning was evidenced by the fact that he allowed only three hits. The only run scored off him was the result of a single which Nap Lajoie, the greatest second baseman of his time, was unable to reach.

Young was relieved by Heino Berger, who pitched one inning, during which time the sandlotters obtained two hits and one run. Their other run was made off Glenn Lieberhardt, who allowed three hits in two innings.

While the veterans were holding the sandlotters to these eight hits, they obtained 12, including twice as many of four ex-sandlot pitchers.

Other stars on the former major leaguers' team included Congalton, Larry Twichell, Elmer Flick, Terry Turner and Nick Altrock.

Altrock surprised the 20,000 fans by stealing a base and obtaining a single.

Congalton lined out three hits, including a double, in his four times at bat. Turner threw three hits out of three, including a double, and Lieberhardt twigs singles in his two times at bat. On his only appearance at bat Lajoie hit into a double play with the bases loaded.

WHAT BECOMES OF GIRLS WHO FADE IN MOVIES?

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
N.E.A. Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, August 18.—Department stores, kitchens, laundries are some of the ports of "fading girls" who have forsaken the movies or been forsaken by them, says Henry Otto, who has probably employed as many beautiful extras as any contemporary picture director.

Otto has kept an accurate record of hundreds of the movie girls employed in his productions during the past two years.

Of 547 extra players he has attempted to trace since their advent at the motion picture studios—

One hundred four have married.

Seventy have become stenographers.

Thirty-one have enrolled in business schools.

One hundred twelve work in laundries.

Ten have gone to the speaking stage.

One hundred thirty-two have remained in the movies, three of that number having been promoted to featured prominence.

The whereabouts of 188 is unknown.

According to Otto's unusual record, the number above accounted for were women of exceptional beauty and grace. Some were uneducated while others had college training. Some were girls of considerable culture, and a majority of them were unusually ambitious.

Approximately one-fifth the girls who within the past two years entered the first fringe of pictures under Director Otto's observation have managed in some fashion to survive the vicissitudes of the profession. And that is rather a high proportion in a broader survey of the industry's personnel.

Otto's comment on the "port of missing extras" was occasioned by his scanning of card indexes identifying players for his Fox feature productions, "The Temple of Venus" and still the grande dame of a great family.

Harry to her is still the spoiled child she's done so much to rear. He still flies into tantrums and she still sulks and mollifies him.

At the hotel he demands infant service. If he is delayed he curses like a trooper, stamps his feet or pounds his hands on table or desk.

He's never still, but speaks nervously, his eyes roving and seldom resting long on any object.

Mrs. Thaw saves trouble by her generosity. In one day at the George Washington hotel she distributed $100 in $5 bills to servants who had suffered from her boy's tongue-lashings and temper.

Thaw makes no apologies for killing White. He is proud of taking the law into his own hands. In this he has the sympathy of the valley where unwritten law is strong.

He does not take the Ku Klux Klan seriously. He says he has come to live where he can have rest and quiet and get back to nature. He is tired of that, he says, he can reach West Virginia from his house by driving four and one-half miles, Maryland in an hour and the District of Columbia or Pennsylvania in three hours.

The insanity plea of the Franks slayer increased interest in Thaw. People wonder whether they will eventually be released if sent to an asylum.

For the first time in his life the millionaire proposes to work. He's going to do overalls and do farm work for exercise and retire to his well-stocked library for recreation among his books on European history, which is his hobby.

He's not yet in his home which is being remodeled, but motors in from Cresson, Pa., with his mother each week. Usually he is accompanied by two physicians.

Town Is Very Quiet

The place he has chosen seems ideal. The town is quiet and serene, its 17 different religious denominations seeming to it that its blue laws are strictly enforced nothing but a smile can be had on Sunday, except religious services.

It is peopled by well-off farmers whose apple lands bring big returns.

Kenilworth, the Thaw place, is a great line-stone, vine-clad pile with true colonial lines of the old slave days type. For 100 years it has been the home of the Stephensons and was built 50 years before they came. It is four and one-half miles from town, a stone's throw from the scene of Sheridan's famous victory, the Thermopole of the Civil war, and is famous for the finest spring in the country. The building was spared during the battle because it was used as a hospital. The grounds comprise 55 acres.

MUCH EXCITEMENT AS "BEARS" AND "BULLS" MEET

Soaring grain prices have caused great activity in the wheat pit of the Chicago board of trade. The picture, taken at the height of the day's trading, shows the pit packed to capacity. The upraised hands are the bidding signals of the operatives.

"Dante's Inferno" are soon to be released.

British women are greater stage actresses than their American sisters, but our movie stars far surpass British film actresses in easily paramount vivacity and ability to mimic, says the man who is known in European pictures and theatrical circles as "the director of lovely women."

Pirates But Three Games From Giants, Open Series With Brooklyn Dodgers

DAZZY VANCE WILL ATTEMPT TO HALT SENSATIONAL PIRATES

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The cold cunning of Dizzy Vance and the heat of the Pirates—now the most vibrant forces in the National league—will clash when the pitching sensation of the season faces the victory-mad Buccaners in the series which Brooklyn begins at Pittsburgh today. Vance, winning twenty of twenty-four starts this year and capturing his last eight games with astonishing ease, will attempt to check a team which seems a pennant after administering four consecutive beatings to the Pirates whose lead they reduced to three games.

The Robins invade Forbes field fresh from a double victory at Cincinnati yesterday by scores of 9 to 4 and 8 to 5. Rixey and Donahue were knocked from the box but Dittus, called from the Florida league, held the Flatbush sluggers silent in the last five innings of the second game. Osborne and Ehrhardt pitched creditably for the winners.

ABBOT WORSTEDS BACK TO SELECT DEFENDERS IN SECOND PLACE

ABBOT WORSTEDS dropped back into second place in the Greater Boston Twilight standing yesterday, by losing a heart-breaking 6 to 5 verdict to St. Andrew's at Graniteville. With the game apparently tucked away in the fifth, the Abbots lapsed, and when the frame was over their opponents had pushed five big markers over the plate and won.

In accomplishing the stunt, five hits were made off Portia, including three singles, a triple and a home run, the wicked willow-wielders being Faulkner, Collins and Carroll with singles, Ashworth with a triple and Horan with a homer.

St. Andrew's proved that a ball game is never over until the last man is out. Until the fatal ninth, the Abbots were leading by a score of 5 to 1, and with every member of the team going great guns, it looked like an easy win and a chance to jump into the leading position in the league standing.

But Abbots lost, and now they stand a half game in arrears of the leading North Cambridge nine. Abbots meet North Cambridge at Russell field in the university city next Saturday. South Boston comes to Graniteville tomorrow night and Malden will be the opponent at Malden Wednesday. If Abbots capture these two games, they will still have a chance to cop top honors by defeating the Cantabs Saturday.

Chesty Edict Brings Fame to Pitcher Thurston

Each year produces one or more new pitching sensations.

Last season George Uhle of Cleveland and Adolph Luque of Cincinnati were the bright shining stars.

It is baseball history that few pitchers have ever had two big years in succession. Apparently with as much stuff as ever, Luque and Uhle have been unable to win consistently this year.

In the American league Hollis Thurston of Chicago has supplanted Uhle in the spotlight, while Emil Yeh, of the Pirates, is the big name in the National.

Unlimited confidence in his ability to make good has made possible the great success that has come to Thurston this year.

In the American league Thurston has been content to warm the bench, act as relief twirler, in general play the role of second-string pitcher, he would probably still be with the St. Louis Browns, unknown to fame.

NASHUA DEFEATED BY THE SILESIA

The rejuvenated Silesia mills ball club of North Chelmsford triumphed over the Nashua club yesterday by a score of 8 to 4 last Saturday afternoon. The Silesia batsmen, no longer fearing the famed no-hit, no-run twirler, McCarthy, slammed his offerings for 11 safe hits, while Ruben Greenhalgh was holding his opponents to nine well-scattered smashes.

Jack Gilmore, star right fielder of the Silesians, was the big hero of the day. His triple with the bases loaded was the feature stunt of the day. Fied also connected for a triple during the game, and every North Chelmsford player, with the exception of Sullivan, got one hit. Sully didn't have to hit, as his mates piled up the runs with ease.

Nashua's defeat took that team down a peg in the Central league standing. Silesia was figured as easy meat, but the dope went wrong and the millmen came through with a well-earned win. There will be the attraction at North Chelmsford Thursday night. The score:

Two-base hits: Whalen, Lynch, Conley, Collins. Three-base hits: Gilmore, Fred, Sack. Sacrifice hits: Cutler, Wooner. Left on bases: Nashua 9; Silesia 8 to 7. At alumni field Saturday afternoon. The Belmonts gave the girls the game when they refused to take their last turn at bat. Refusal to keep this date cost them a possible win.

The game produced a lot of comedy. The Belmonts batted right and left handed, the outfields played infield positions, and the batters ran the bases counter-clockwise. Harry Smith, the pitcher, was the star of the game. Although he was a pitcher, he was a very good one. He was a very good one. He was a very good one.

BLOOMER GIRLS ARE TOUGH BALL PLAYERS

The American Bloomer girls, the only female baseball team in captivity in these parts, "defeated" Ricard's Belmonts 8 to 7, at alumni field Saturday afternoon. The Belmonts gave the girls the game when they refused to take their last turn at bat. Refusal to keep this date cost them a possible win.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO PAT MORAN

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—A memorial tablet to Pat Moran who brought to Cincinnati in 1915 the first world's baseball championship in fifty years, will be unveiled at Redland field today, preceding the baseball game between the Red and the New York Giants.

The tablet, bearing a relief of the Red lander, who died early this season, was made possible through subscriptions sent by fans all over the country. K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, President Heydler of the National league, Sam Johnson, of the American league, and others will deliver addresses.

Patrick Moran, Jr., will unveil the tablet.

LUCASON RETAINS SWIMMING TITLE

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Adam Lucason of Worcester defeated his one-mile N. E. A. A. U. championship title against a large field of excellent swimmers yesterday afternoon in the feature race, in which representatives from all the beaches of the city competed.

Lucason took the honors for another year, covering the distance in 24 minutes, 25 seconds. He has made better time in other swims but the conditions were not ideal. The water was rough. About 20,000 persons gathered at Headhouse beach to watch the contest.

The mile swim was the most interesting of the afternoon, with a field of 150 boys over the course in Dorchester bay. It was one of the prettiest races ever held in South Boston. The winner secured an early lead, but had to fight all the rest of the way to keep it.

Tom Kenny, who finished second, made a fine effort. At times he had the lead. On the last leg, however, Lucason showed more strength and won by a narrow margin, only a few yards. The others in the content were some distance behind the two leaders.

In the other contents there was keen rivalry.

William Lynch won first in three of the events. Jerry Galloway took first honors in two of the junior events.

Dry Cell Tube in Four-Tuner Circuit Makes Simple, Efficient Set

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

N.E.A. Service Radio Editor

For simplicity and ease in construction, coupled with efficiency and practicality, the single dry cell four-tuner circuit is hard to beat.

It has few parts, which can be easily hooked up, and the whole set shouldn't cost more than $25.

The parts are:

One four-circuit coil, A, B, C and D.
Two variable condensers, C1 and C2, .0005 mfd. capacity, with verniers.
One grid leak and condenser, H.
One rheostat, 20 ohms.
One dry tube socket, E.
One fixed condenser, .00025 mfd., J.
One switch lever, seven switch points and two stops.
Eight binding posts.
One phone jack, double circuit if amplifier is to be added.
Bus wire for connections.
The entire set may be mounted on a 7-inch by 12-inch panel and an 8-inch by 12-inch baseboard.
The four-circuit coil may be bought at any radio store, but it can easily be made at home. It is wound as follows:

RADIO WILL HELP IN OCEAN SURVEY

By N.E.A. Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Army, navy and other government departments are planning the participation of this form of communication in a proposed hydrographic survey of the waters of the world.

Not only is radio to help facilitate this survey, but in return it may gain considerable assistance toward solution of some perplexing radio problem. The survey is expected to begin within a year, and to last several years.

The main purpose of the expedition is to find means to prevent marine disasters and being about better transportation and communication at sea. The ship, personnel and itinerary have not yet been decided upon, although its job is clearly mapped out.

The ship will be equipped with the most modern radio transmitting and receiving apparatus, besides all sorts of sound instruments and other varieties needed for hydrographic work. Two investigations will also be made in the field of radio. They will cover the mysteries of static and "dead spots." Dead spots especially will be charted with the idea of routing ocean liner lanes around these areas, so that ships may be sure of being in constant touch with land.

INVENTOR PICTURES IDEAL NEUTRODYNE

The ideal neutrodyne receiver, according to Prof. L. A. Hazeltine, its inventor, would be a single control set, without any external wires whatsoever, the entire receiver mounted in a cabinet about three or four feet high.

Two difficulties in the way of this accomplishment are the lack of uniformity of condensers and, dependent on this, the changes in antenna capacities.

Since the three tuning dials on a neutrodyne receiver are nearly alike for the same wavelength, Hazeltine points out, manufacture of truly uniform condensers would enable the use of a single gear control for the condensers or one shaft for all three rotors of the neutroformers.

With this possible, the antennas could then be made part of the set.

THE VOICE FROM WOAW

Station WOAW boasts a poet laureate in Eugene Konecky. He is no mere announcer. He writes poetry and recites it via the microphone. WOAW is the broadcasting station of the Woodmen of the World at Omaha, Neb., one of the finest in the country. Besides reciting his own poetry, he gives his listeners a change by reading the verses of other poets, especially on national holidays.

YOUR OWN AERIAL
A novel suggestion to avoid static, and replace an indoor loop aerial: Be your own aerial! This, one fan suggests, may be accomplished by starting on a couple of thumbtacks and touching the antenna post with a wet forefinger and thumb.

OVER HIGHEST TOP
The peak of the highest mountain range in the world, the Himalayas, is apparently crossed with ease when the new French radio station in Indo-China communicates directly with the station at Bordeaux.

Eight German cities have broadcasting stations.

NEW "MICROPHONE"

The latest form of microphone is the cathophone, a device invented in Germany. It is somewhat along the principle of the glow transmitter, invented by Dr. Philips Thomas.

SAVE THE TUBES

Tubes live longer if the filaments are lighted up to the point necessary for the required tone. Otherwise they burn out rapidly and weak and distorted signals result.

PIGMEAN DEAD SPOT

The British station in Belgium reports a dead spot in the area south-southeast of the antenna. The cause of it is being sought.

STANDARD BATTERIES
Scientific representatives of the United States government and electrical industries are combining their work for the standardization of dry battery cells, intended for different uses. Radio dry batteries will be included.

IT'S A "VOX HAUS"

PILLS AS DETECTORS

Instead of a crystal detector—a pill! This is the new form used in Europe in some places. The galena crystal is crushed and formed into pills which, says the inventor, have more sensitive points than the original crystal.

SAVES $150,000 YEAR

The Iceland station is said to effect a saving of $150,000 a year in preventing shipwrecks and furnishing the fishing fleet with weather reports. And the station cost only $5000.

READ FOR EASTER

Next Easter will see British radio fans listening in on special services, broadcast from Westminster Abbey, and on a special message sent by radio from the pope at Rome.

SHOOTING NORTH

Station KDKA is going to try shooting its broadcasting waves at the north pole. Its announcers will make special efforts to communicate with the polar ship Arctic that has left Quebec for Etah, Greenland.

CARE OF BATTERY

The water in the storage battery should never be allowed to run down below the tops of the plates. It impairs reception. Distilled water, not acid, is all that is needed to refill.

GREAT WEATHER FOR OUTDOOR DANCING

The weather conditions recently have been wonderful for outdoor dancing and large crowds have been in attendance at the Commodore ballroom in Thorndike street. The management endeavors at all times to care for the wants of the patrons and invites suggestions that will add to the comfort and convenience of those who visit this resort.

Tonight and tomorrow night there will be check dancing with Miner Doyle's orchestra furnishing the music. All the latest numbers are featured and the music is always of superior brand. The floor is kept in first class condition, being under the eye of an expert. The admission on both evenings is 10 cents.

Another "Old Timers" night will be held Wednesday evening with Joe Hibbard's orchestra playing all the old dance favorites. There will be up-to-date numbers and latest hits for those who like to fox-trot.

Great Britain has nearly 700,000 receiving sets.

More than 100 manufacturers exhibited apparatus at Germany's first radio show recently.

WTN, New York, will broadcast a program every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evening.

British broadcasters are inviting American playrights to participate in their radio play contest.

SEN. LA FOLLETTE LABOR LEADER THANKS A. F. OF L. SUPPORTS DAVIS

Expresses Appreciation for Endorsement of Candidacy by Executive Council

Declares His Policy is "Conservation of Human Rights"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Expressing confidence that "in the end we shall be victorious," Senator La Follette, independent candidate for president, declares in a letter to the non-partisan political campaign committee of the American Federation of Labor his appreciation and that of his running mate, Senator Wheeler of Montana, for the endorsement of their candidacy by the organization's executive council.

Although it may be "branded as radical by the forces we are fighting," he said, "ultimate objective" of the independent campaign "in its essence" is "conservative" since it "is a policy of conservation of human rights." This aim, he asserts, "has never been more accurately attained" than by the statement in the message notifying him formally of the council's endorsement of government in its sole rightful purpose—the service of the masses of the people.

The American labor movement, he adds, had "been a prime factor in every enterprise for the conservation of human rights, human lives and those great resources with which nature so lavishly endowed our country for the use and enjoyment of its people."

Maj. Berry, President of Pressmen's Union Not
With La Follette

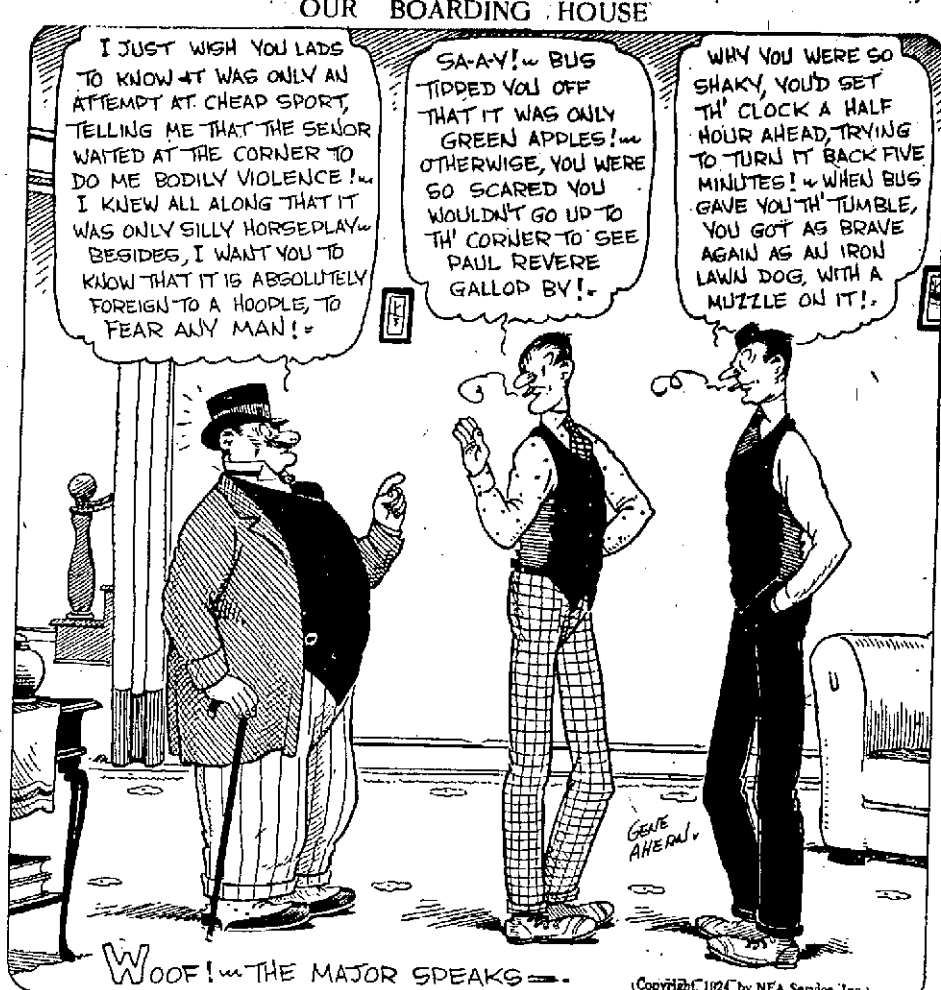

Declares He Will Support
Candidacy of John W.
Davis and Gov. Bryan

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Major George L. Berry of Tennessee, president of the International Pressmen's and Assistants' union, will support the candidacy of John W. Davis and Governor Charles W. Bryan, rather than the La Follette-Wheeler ticket.

Major Berry was a candidate for vice-president at the democratic convention.

WASHINGTON PASTOR IN LOWELL PULPIT

Dr. William S. Abernethy, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Washington, D. C., preached at the First Baptist church yesterday. The late President Warren Harding attended the Abernethy church in Washington, and Secretary of State Hughes is also a member of it.

Before presenting his sermon, the visiting pastor paid his respects to the First Baptist church history and membership, and referred to Dr. Smith E. Ford, a former pastor of the local religious organization, who left Lowell at the close of his local pastorate, going to Chicago, which was the preacher's home church.

The Abernethy morning sermon topic was, "Is It Too Hard?" In the evening, he addressed a large congregation from the topic, "The Heart Side of God in Human Terms."

In the morning, the pastor drew his texts from both the old testament and the new testament. He contrasted the teachings of Christ with the policy of Jeremiah, who sought to gain and to retain followers by appealing to their love of ease. Continuing he said:

"There were people, I have no doubt, in Jeremiah's day, who took his view. But Jeremiah gained a reputation for himself as the man who caused Jericho to sin. It is easy to get a reputation. Anyone of you can get his name in the papers tomorrow morning and get a reputation thereby, if you are not particular about the kind of reputation. A man can beat up his wife and do a little bootlegging, and get a reputation. Jeremiah became known as the beginning source of idolatry, but the thing did not work in the long run."

The pastor declared that it is not easy to lead the Christian life, but one of the hardest things he knows of. The appeal that Jesus makes, strikes into the hearts of men and women today. It appeals to the deeper natures always.

Dr. Abernethy referred to the Spanish-American war and the appeal that it made to collect hay. They were advised not to enlist, but to remain in their schools of learning, the reason given being that the country needed them in the future. College professors who taught this doctrine, were not true psychologists. Nearly every boy in some colleges enlisted for the war.

The visiting clergyman, after the morning services, taught the senior and adult classes in the First Baptist Bible school. Many who were not regular attendants, remained to receive instruction.

Additional hundreds, including many members of the official notification committee, arrived on early trains and taxed hotel facilities.

FORMER LOWELL MAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

New Candidates For County Commission

Dr. Thiery, Accused of Killing His Brother-in-Law, D. M. Nobles, Attempts Suicide in HospitalOPENS VEIN WITH A SAFETY PIN

Nurse Hearing Thiery Groaning Enters and Finds Bed Covered With Blood

Called Doctor Who Made Blood Transfusion From Special Policeman

Grand Jury Which Meets Early in September Will Be Asked to Indict Him

SOMERVILLE, Mass., Aug. 18.—Dr.
Raymond D. Thiery who is under arrest at the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, David M.
Noble, in this city on Aug. 8, attempted suicide during the night by opening a vein in his forearm with a safety pin.

Early today a nurse heard him groaning and on investigation found the bed covered with blood. She called a doctor who made an immediate blood transfusion from a special policeman at the hospital. The belief was expressed at the hospital that Dr.
Thiery, although in a much weakened condition, would survive.

Assistant District Attorney Bushnell of Middlesex county said that Dr.
Thiery had asserted that the vein was opened with a safety razor blade which he concealed yesterday. No blade was found in the room, however, and the authorities are satisfied that a pin discovered in the bed was used. An envelope addressed to the Somerville chief of police and containing personal letters and touching on the case was found in Thiery's night clothing.

Noble was shot dead as he entered the home of his father-in-law where both he and Thiery lived. Thiery was found in the cellar with slight knife wounds in his arm and an injury to his head, sustained, he said, in a battle with a burglar who had shot Noble.
Thiery arraigned on the murder charge had been expected within two weeks. The grand jury which meets early in September, will be asked to indict him.

CAMPAIGN TO FIGHT
WAGE REDUCTIONS

PAWTUCKET, R. I., August 18.—The Rhode Island Textile council, United Textile Workers of America, in special session here yesterday afternoon, passed a resolution requesting the international convention for permission to start a campaign against the Manville Jencks corporation, which recently reduced the wages of its employees. The campaign is to be conducted in the south as well as Rhode Island. The council also urged the convention for permission to start a campaign similar to the one in 1922, when thousand operatives went out on strike.

The council, which comprises delegates from every union in the state, endorsed the La Follette-Wheeler ticket and urged the membership to take immediate steps in their support. The democratic party in Rhode Island also was endorsed.

HERRIOT RETURNS AS CONQUERING HERO

PARIS, August 18 (By the Associated Press).—Premier Herriot came back from London today like a conquering hero. At the Gare St. Lazare he was cheered by a crowd of many thousands, as no premier has been cheered for years.

The train which bore M. Herriot home after his arduous work at the international conference pulled into the station at 6:10 o'clock this evening, but it took M. Herriot 15 minutes to get through to the motor car which was waiting for him.

381 TAKEN IN LARGEST ROUND-UP IN HISTORY OF RICHMOND

Negro Excursionists Arrested Without Disorder—Three Patrol Wagons Meet Boat at Pier—Eight Trips
Required to Transport All to Station House

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 18.—The largest round-up in the history of the Richmond police department—381 negro excursionists—was accomplished late last night without disorder. Only fifty of the prisoners obtained bail during the night.
The negroes were members and supporters of the South Side Stru-tters' Socialist and Literary club of Richmond, which had sponsored a Sunday river excursion to Hopewell to raise funds for its library. While there, twenty of the men entered the

STATE ALIENIST ADMITS ENDOCRINE
GLANDS AFFECT EMOTIONAL LIFE

Admission Drawn From Dr. Singer by Attorney Darrow, Chief Counsel for Leopold and Loeb—Spirited Clashes at Hearing

CHICAGO, August 18 (By the Associated Press).—Endocrine glands affect the emotional life, according to an admission which Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, drew today from Dr. H. Douglas Singer, on cross-examination in the Franks hearing. The answer came reluctantly in this form:
"Are the endocrine glands part of the emotional life?"
"Yes, sir."

"Do they affect it?"
"If they are part of it, they must affect it."

"Why not say so in the first place?"
"Well, I thought my answer more complete than your question."

The exchange was typical of a spirited contest between the attorney and the witness. Such terms as "egocentric," "psychopathic personality," "psy-chosexual" and "pathological" struck some of the court fans as amusing and balliffs had to warn such persons several times to maintain composure.

The cross-examination was directed toward an attempt to get from the state alienist an admission that physical characters and mental processes which the experts have found in the defendants were signs of approaching insanity or at least "mental disease."

Phantasies and hallucinations were given by Dr. Singer as "signs of insanity," but he qualified this by adding, "sometimes." He once acknowledged that Loeb's habit of imagining himself a "master criminal" was "in a sense" a hallucination.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The end of the hearing before Judge John R. Caverly in which the state demands the lives of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, for kidnapping and killing Edward Franks while the defense seeks mitigation of the punishment, is in sight.

FRENCH TROOPS BEGIN EVACUATION OF GERMAN TOWNS

STRASBOURG, Alsace, France, Aug. 18. (By the Associated Press.)
French troops began their evacuation of Offenbourg and Appenweier this forenoon and it was expected they would be out of the two German towns some time tonight.

Official announcement of the intended evacuation of the two Baden towns, made yesterday, said that the deterioration of the French and Belgian authorities to take their troops out of the towns was due to the recent resumption of trains services between Paris and Warsaw and Paris and Prague, the suppression of which on the German section of the line caused the occupation as a penalty in February, 1923.

The announcement did not connect the evacuation of Offenbourg and Ap-penweier which are directly across the Rhine from Strasbourg, with the Franco-German negotiations at the conference in London in connection with the evacuation of the Ruhr.

THREE BIG SEIZURES LOSS OF REVENUE BY STREET RAILWAY

A loss in revenue totalling nearly $100,000 was suffered by the local division of the street railway company during the first seven months of this year, according to a statement by Manager Maurice E. McCormick today.

To offset this loss, the local division has cancelled service in so far as is possible without rearranging schedules, has re-arranged its schedule of track work to eliminate expenditures

An eagle measuring eight feet from tip to tip picked up 14-year-old Fred Cunningham, weighing 97 pounds, on a golf course near here last night, lifted him five feet in the air and then dropped him when his clothing gave way, according to the story told by the lad today.
Cunningham, clawed and scratched, managed to get the bird in a wire fence, where it was killed.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Lowell Man Arraigned This Morning in District Court in Lynn

Alan C. Eveleth of 201 Thorndike street was arraigned in the Lynn district court this morning on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Harry Meisner, 23, of Yarmouth, N. S., after an automobile accident in Lynn. Mr. Eveleth was ordered held in $2000 bonds awaiting the inquest report, and was bailed.

The accident resulting in this charge occurred Thursday evening at Lynn and Silas street. Lynn. Meisner, it is claimed, was struck by Eveleth's automobile. He was taken to the Lynn hospital where it was found he had sustained a broken spine. He failed to rally and died yesterday afternoon.

BINGHAM, Utah, Aug. 18.—Only the absence of the usual canyon wind saved Utah's historic copper mining camp from destruction yesterday when a fire of undetermined origin virtually destroyed a business block causing damage estimated at $100,000.

Two firemen were killed when the wall of a building collapsed burying them under the flaming debris. Three others suffered serious injuries and burns.

and Injuries to OthersCITY ENGINEER FIGHTS CHANGE IN GORHAM ST. ROAD MATERIAL

Kearney Challenges Supt. Doherty's Figures and Makes Emphatic Declaration Against Specification Change
—Unemployment Relief on Sewers Held Up By Mayor

Several important projects were discussed by the board of public service in a noon meeting of two hours' duration today, definite action being deferred after prolonged probing into the financial status of the water department.

Tennis J. Murphy presided at the session, the other two members of the board, Fred G. Leary and Frederick F. Meloy also being in attendance as well as Streets Supt. Doherty, Supt.
Gardner and Assistant Superintendent
Reynolds of the water department.

Most important under consideration was the matter of asking the council at tomorrow night's meeting to authorize a bond issue of $20,000 to provide for the joining of all "dead-end" main lines in the water service. Because department finances are not in as good a condition as a year previous the board decided to go slowly and deferred action indefinitely. Similar action was taken on the purchase of a truck for the water department, it being maintained inadvisable to replace horses with a truck at a cost of nearly $4000 when the department is facing a $10,000 deficit.

With the $75,000 loan order passed by the city council last Tuesday night still unsigned by the mayor, the board in a hasty way decided to propose putting additional men to work in the sewer department.

Lacking official word of approval from the mayor the board, its hands thus tied, felt constrained to defer action.

With a view to starting work as quickly as authorized and with a further view to making sure of sufficient equipment to warrant full blast ahead when the time comes the board voted to buy a new air compressor, costing about $2000. The order was placed contingent upon the mayor's approval of the measure voted by the council with the primary view of relieving the unemployment situation.

The action of the board showed an earnest desire to co-ordinate with the city council in its desires, but the board felt that it could not overstep the block caused by the non-signature of the mayor to the order and went slowly because the signature was lacking inas-far as they knew.

The order for the picking up of all dead-ends, covering the installation of 6100 feet or more of six and eight-inch water mains also went by default and may be taken up at a later meeting.
In view of the financial condition of the department the Meloy plan to hire additional men was also deferred.

ALIENISTS EXAMINE MCCOY WHILE POLICE SEEK NEW EVIDENCE

Officials Charge Former Prize Fighter With Making Two Confessions—District Attorney Predicts Indictment—of McCoy for Murder Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 18.—While police today searched the city for new evidence supporting the two confessions they allege "Kid McCoy" has already made to the slaying of Mrs.
Theresa Mors in the McCoy-Mors apartment here early last Wednesday, alienists under orders from the district attorney were hoping to conclude an examination of the former prize fighter designed to forestall any contention by his attorneys that he was and is incapable of making any true confession.

The alleged confession was revealed yesterday when the district attorney's investigators announced they had the name of a Hollywood friend of Mc-Coy's, who met the ex-pugilist less than half an hour after the shooting of Mrs. Mors and heard what he then said to a wild, drunken tale of a woman slain and a half-dozen other persons yet to be slain.

Detectives early today were trying to serve a subpoena on the witness, commanding him to appear before the grand jury tomorrow. Until they find him, it was announced, his name will be withheld.

Meanwhile the district attorney was preparing to go before the grand jury with McCoy's alleged confession to the slaying of Mrs. Mors, his own admission that he was in the apartment when a bullet killed Mrs. Mors, and the testimony of friends of the woman, who said she feared McCoy would kill her if she quit him.

Since the day of his arrest on suspicion of murder, when he told police that Mrs. Mors shot herself in his presence, and that his wounding of three persons in a shopping district shooting affray several hours later, was due to shock and grief over her death, the one-time Beau Brummel of the prize ring has sat sullenly in his cell, observing the advice of his attorneys not to talk about the case.

Tomorrow the district attorney predicts, the grand jury will indict Mc-Coy for the murder of Mrs. Mors, notwithstanding the verdict of a coroner's jury which last week admitted itself unable to decide whether the wealthy antique dealer's wife died by her own hand or by the hand of another.

MOVEMENT ON FOOT TO OUST TWO COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Two Candidates Waging Vigorous Campaign to Prevent Re-election of Cutting and Wardwell—One Candidate
Bears Same Name as Present Official

Two Middlesex county commissioners are to be elected this fall, to serve for terms of four years each. The present incumbents, Mr. Alfred L. Cutting of Weston, and Mr. Walter C. Wardwell of Cambridge, who have held office since 1915 and 1917, respectively, are candidates for re-election for terms of four years more.

The even tenor of the way of well-known Middlesex county office-holders in the past, are rarely disturbed by ambitious men intruding themselves in the pathway of the "regulars" and ondeavouring to interrupt that procession, as well as taking the lead away from the hand-picked candidate. But that was in the old days.

Middlesex county voters are facing a genuine campaign this fall, and not many members of the electorate know the story. There is a concerted attempt on the part of well-known G.O.P. citizens in the eastern part of the county centering in and around Boston, Cambridge and Somerville, to prevent the re-nomination of County Commissioners Cutting and Wardwell at the primaries, to be held on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

but were released after they had sufficiently recovered. Vasilios died last night as the result of a fractured skull.

Considerable mystery surrounds the initial accident, involving the dead man. While going toward Newbury-port on the turnpike yesterday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Goldberg of Roxbury, saw Vasilios lying unconscious in the middle of the highway. Near him was a motorcycle, with one of the tires flat. How he came to be unconscious could not be learned, but investigating authorities suspect that he was struck by a machine.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

WEENY AND THE TWINS KEEP STORE

WEENY ATE ABOUT A DOLLAR AND NINETY CENTS' WORTH.

While Charley Monkey went to the ball game, Weeny and the Twins indulged in lemonade-ice cream-peanut-popcorn stand for him. They were kept very busy. First Andy Antelope came and bought two packages of chewing gum. Then Bobby Garlick came and bought a sandwich (which he ate at one bite.) Next Tommy Coolidge bought an ice cream cone and after that so many people came it kept all three of them very busy. Weeny kept an eye on the peanut bowl, to be sure that some of them were left. After a while customers stopped coming and the elephant and the Twins had time to sit down. "Now then," said Weeny, wiping his face with his big handkerchief, "Charley told us to eat all we wanted and to stay as long as we liked, so I'm going to begin by eating all the peanuts in the peanut bowl and end by drinking three gallons of orangeade and then going to sleep. Help yourself, Twins, and don't say a word for an hour and sixty-five minutes, please. I'm going to be busy." So he started in and all you could hear was a crunch, crunch, crunching as Weeny, the elephant, ate his peanuts. Or maybe you couldn't hear him, I forget, but anyway he ate them. And Nancy and Nick each had over so many things, quite enough to make them sick, I am sure, ice cream cones and pickles (yes, Charley sold pickles, too) and pop, and sandwiches and candy and coca-cola and cracker-jack and everything. About a hundred and ten cents' worth. And I guess Weeny ate about a dollar and ninety cents' worth. After Weeny had his nap and another gallon of ginger ale, Charley Monkey came home. "Whoopie!" he cried. "I see business has been good—very, very good. You've made so much money for me, Weeny, that I can change your hundred-dollar bill now." "Why, I haven't any hundred dollar bill," said Weeny. "I never said I had." "Yes, you did," said Charley. "You said 'could I change a hundred-dollar bill?'" "I didn't say I had one," laughed Weeny. "Did I ask you?" "Then I hope you didn't eat anything!" cried Charley crossly. "Yes, we did," said Weeny. "We ate almost everything that was left. You said to eat what we liked and to stay as long as we wanted." "But I thought—" "I can't help what you thought," said Weeny, winking at the Twins. I think he was a bad elephant and should have been sent to bed without his supper. "Oh, we're sorry," said Nancy and Nick. "We didn't know you were going to charge anything. We're ever so sorry." Charley counted his money and then counted everything that was gone. "You've eaten up three dollars' worth of stuff," he declared. "You owe me three dollars." "And we worked all afternoon so you owe us three dollars, too," laughed Weeny. "Why, so I do," said Charley, good naturedly. "Then we're even." "Those were awfully good peanuts," said Weeny. SOUSA'S BAND COMES TO LOWELL NEXT MONTH
Lieutenant Commander John Philip Sousa and his famous band will tour again this season for more than 20 weeks in a journey which began in Wilmington, Del., on June 21 last, and which ends with two concerts in Greater New York on November 18. Lowell gets him as an extra attraction in the Stelner Concert series, at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium, on the night of Monday, September 22. This is the 32nd consecutive season that Sousa has appeared at the head of his band, and during the tour he will celebrate his 70th birthday.

So's band deserves to be classed as the most thoroughly American institution of music. The Sousa organization is the only instrumental musical aggregation, either band or orchestra, which has been able to maintain itself without subsidy. An average of two millions of people a year for the past 21 years have kept Sousa's band before the public because Sousa has created programs which have interested and entertained the public. The public has been generous to Sousa and he has responded by bringing to it the world's best music.

The Sousa programs this year will be more varied than ever before. Always they have contained the two elements of substance and novelty. This year the musical fare will range from the Strauss tone-poem, "Don Juan" to a characteristic Sousa interpretation of the latest syncopation. In between the two extremes are a Sousa suite, a new Sousa march, a Sousa fox-trot, the first fox-trot he has written) and the annual Sousa humoresque. Sousa's band this season, as for several seasons past, will consist of more than 100 musicians and soloists. Fauchault, soprano; Winifred Bam, The soloists this year, for the most part, harpist; John Dolan, cornetist; part favorites of other seasons, will include Marjorie Moody and Nora John Carr, clarinetist.

Mrs. Alfred L. Billings of Auburn-dale was injured last evening when an automobile in which she was riding was in collision with a large touring car at McMillan's corner, Billerica. She was treated by Dr. E. J. Alay of Billerica Centre and later in the evening was taken to her home. The car was driven by her husband.

The touring car involved was driven by Ralph E. Hureman and owned by Kenneth B. Hatch of West Somerville. Mr. Billings and four occupants of the touring car escaped without injury. The accident occurred near the street railway tracks and an electric car was struck and slightly damaged by one of the automobiles involved in the collision. Both machines were badly damaged.

The difference between a wave and a current is that a current is a stream of water moving in the sea, while a wave is merely a movement on the surface.

PLAN TO REFUEL WORLD FLIERS AT SEA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Plans are being made to refuel the army "world fliers" at sea if such a course becomes necessary in their projected 825-mile hop from Reykjavik, Iceland, to Greenland, Greenland.

A message today from the advance party to the army air service, told of the proposal and brought first official confirmation of abandonment of the long search for a substitute landing place on the southern tip of Greenland. "Anagmashlik seems hopeless because of ice," said the despatch.

The date of departure from Iceland was said to be uncertain. The proposed flight, would comprise twelve hours in the air, considered here not an excessive test of the capacity of the planes but yet one which necessitates extreme precautions.

Establishment of a floating base to refuel the planes is one of those precautions, officials said, since allowance must be made for possible adverse winds. Every confidence was expressed that the long jump would be executed safely.

SHIP LOST IN BERING SEA

SEATTLE, Wash., August 18.—The motor ship Lady Kindersley of the Hudson Bay company, trading in the Arctic, has been lost in Bering Sea, a message received from Cordova, Alaska, today indicated. No lives were lost, it was said.

Collisions in Newburyport

chine which failed to stop, or that he was thrown from the driver's seat when the tire blew out.

Mr. Goldberg started to take the unconscious man to a nearby hospital, but he had not gone far when he met a sedan, owned and operated by I. A. Alperine of Worcester, which was traveling in an opposite direction. The two cars met head-on and that of Mr. Alperine shot off the road and crashed into the blacksmith shop of the independent ice company. Mr. Alperine complained of an injury to his chest and went to the Anna Jaques hospital for treatment. He was released after he had sufficiently recovered. Mrs. Goldberg suffered the loss of several teeth in the crash and was scratched about the head and face.

This first collision occurred early yesterday afternoon. News of Vasil's condition was telephoned to Lowell and his father, with the children and cousins, started for Newburyport in the automobile owned and operated by Rev. James G. Glinieres of 854 Rogers street, who was visiting in Market street when word of the accident was received.

The party proceeded through Lawrence and Haverhill, and the machine rounded a curve on Sawyer's hill, Newburyport, when two machines coming in an opposite direction threatened to strike the Lowell car. To avoid a collision, the clergyman turned sharply to his right and the machine went over the street car tracks into a small ditch, overturning and injuring all of its occupants.

The injured received treatment at the hospital and all were able to leave. The local undertaking establishment of C. J. Molloy Son was notified of the death of Vasil and removed the body to this city. The funeral will be held from the undertaking rooms tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Georgioukian had been working in Boston for the past two years and made his home in Winthrop. His father and sisters have lived in Lowell for a number of years, while his mother is in Greece.

Loss of Revenue by Street Railway

estimated at $38,000, and has also curtailed repair shop.

The loss in revenue is figured in comparison with last year's earnings. Up to May of this year the local division's receipts were almost the same as last year. May, however, saw a large drop in traffic and resulting loss of revenue and the loss kept growing larger week by week during June and July. For the first fifteen days of August revenue was $323 below the amount received during the same period last year.

Continued depression in the manufacturing business of the city is blamed for the greater part of the loss by Manager McCormick while a small portion is attributed to the fact that many more persons walk and ride in automobiles during the summer months than in the winter months of the year.

Service curtailment was accomplished by doing away with a large number of extra cars which were run during the "peak" hours from 8 to 8 o'clock in the morning, from 12 to 1 at noon, and from 5 to 7 o'clock in the evening.

The cut in expenditures for track work is deemed drastic. Early in the year track work estimated at approximately $175,000 was planned for this year. Owing to business depression this has been cut to $117,000. The only large job planned which has been put off for the present is the relaying of the double rail in Bridge street. All other major jobs planned for the year are being carried out according to schedule. In addition to the Bridge street work, a number of smaller jobs planned have been deferred to another year.

CADDY BOY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

John Slavin of 27 Dayton street, a caddy employed by the Vesper Country club, was seriously injured yesterday morning when a truck, owned by the Vesper club, in which he and several other employees of the club were riding to work, overturned at Varnum avenue and Mammoth road. The truck, which was being driven at the time of the accident by Alexander Goulet, who resides at the employees' quarters of the club at Tyngs Island.

The injured boy was taken to the Lowell General hospital where it was reported he had suffered internal injuries. At this hospital today it is reported that his condition is slightly improved.

BROCKTON SHOE STRIKE SETTLED

BROCKTON, Aug. 18.—The striking outdoor and indoor sole cutters and sorters at the V. and F. W. Pilon company returned to work following settlement reached over the weekend, with the restoration of wages and conditions responsible for the walkout.

Thomas O'Hare, general organizer of the Boot & Shoe Workers' Union, Business Agent Long of the Sole Leather Workers' union and F. Pilon of the firm reached the agreement.

U. S. Sen. Cold Passes Away Public Service Board

Baron Bradford Colt, United States senator from Rhode Island since 1913, was born in Dedham, Mass., June 15, 1846. His uncle, Samuel Colt, was the inventor of the revolving pistol chamber. His early education was received in the public schools of Hartford, Conn., and he prepared for Yale at Williston seminary. He entered Yale, graduating in 1868. After taking a law course in Columbia university, he joined the New York bar in 1870.

His first wife, Mary Louise Ledyard of Chelsea, died in 1922. Three daughters survive this union.

In 1876 the senator came to Bristol for a visit and decided to remain there permanently. He was elected to the state assembly from Bristol in 1879-80 and while serving his second term in the lower house, was appointed to the United States district judgeship for this district.

The appointment was given him by President Garfield. In 1884 he was appointed United States circuit judge for the first judicial circuit and in 1891 when the United States circuit court of appeals was instituted he had been presiding judge for this district.

In 1912 when Senator Wetmore declined to run again, Judge Colt was nominated by the republicans and elected.

When President Wilson returned to this country after the signing of the Versailles treaty Senator Colt was proposed to favor the acceptance of the covenant to the League of Nations but with reservations less stringent than those proposed by Senator Lodge. With the specific pledge of Article 10 removed by reservation of the senate from the covenant of the league, the senator was prepared for its acceptance by this government.

At different times, from Yale, Columbia and Brown.

Sen. Gerry Pays Tribute

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 18.—Senator Peter G. Gerry, when informed of the death of Senator Le Baron B. Colt, gave the following statement over the telephone from his office in New York to the Providence News:

"I am extremely sorry to learn of the death of Senator Colt. In his passing the state and country loses a faithful servant. For many years his physical and mental powers have been devoted to the public welfare. He was an eminent lawyer, judge, statesman and a charming gentleman. To me he was a warm personal friend and few there are who cherish friendships as he did. I shall miss him."

Head of Immigration Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Senator Colt's death leaves vacant the chairmanship of the senate immigration committee, and may result in the elevation to that post of Senator Johnson of California, a prominent figure in the fight for Japanese exclusion.

Ranking next to Senator Colt among republican members of the committee was Senator Sterling of South Dakota but he has been defeated for renomination and if he takes the chairmanship he can serve only until next March 4.

Senator Johnson who ranks after Senator Sterling, is chairman of the committee on territories and insular possessions and may not desire to give up that place in order to become head of the immigration committee. In that event the immigration chairmanship probably will go to Senator Keyes of New Hampshire.

Pres. Coolidge Expresses Sympathy

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 18.—President Coolidge expressed his sorrow today for the death of Senator Colt in a message sent Mrs. Harold J. Gross, daughter of the senator, at Bristol. The message read:

"Hearing that your distinguished father, Senator Colt, has passed away, I hasten to offer my sympathy to his family and friends. He was a prominent figure in our national life and will be greatly missed. I mourn his loss to the country."

Doctors say hard work tends to lengthen life, because men and women who stick close to their profession or trade must be regular in their habits.

Observations have been in progress several months and will be continued for some months after the planet's nearest approach to earth on August 22, when it will be closer to human eyes than it has been for approximately 100 years.

13 WHO FIGURED IN KLAN BATTLE SENTENCED

HAVERHILL, Aug. 18.—Eight members of the Ku Klux Klan and five anti-Klanmen were found guilty of disturbing the peace and each was sentenced to thirty days by Judge Daniel J. Cavan in the Central district court here today. All appealed and each was released on $100 bail. The cases grew out of a riot which occurred on July 31 when Klanmen were returning to Haverhill from a meeting in Greenland.

The judge today scored the defendants for not having assisted the court in the investigation and stated that more serious charges will be preferred since it was apparent that the anti-Klanmen had fired shots from a truck after they had been fired upon. The defendants, all of whom took the stand except one, denied firing.

CHIEF TORPEDOMAN MERCHANT PROMOTED

A man well known in this city has been signally honored by the navy department in being chosen as senior chief on the submarine V-1, which was recently launched at the Portsmouth navy yard and is now being conditioned for active service.

He is Chief Torpedoman George Merchant of Arlington. Chief Merchant became very well known locally when, early in 1922, he opened a navy recruiting station here and remained in charge of the office for a period of six months.

Chief Merchant is a "four-striper," having served over 20 years in the navy. When submarines were first adopted by the United States, he was detailed to duty on the submarines and except for short periods spent in the recruiting service, has served on them ever since. In choosing him as senior chief on the new V-1, the navy department has recognized him as one of its best non-commissioned submariners.

The V-1 is the first of the two-deck submarines and is the largest in the service of this country. Its complement is the same as the other types, but the V-1 may have been judged by a comparison of the crews. It carrying a crew of 30 men while the other types average about 30 men to a boat.

End of Leopold-Loeb Hearing

plans to call Dr. William O. Krohn to the stand today as a state witness and the last of the state's witnesses.

The defense then may call one or two rebuttal witnesses, "grand experts," to offset the testimony of Dr. R. T. Woodruff, who said in effect that they know much about glands and their psychiatric influence.

Asst. State Atty. John S. Barbato said he believed the entire case, including the final arguments, might be given to Judge Cavelly on Thursday or Friday.

Yesterday a useless but persistent rumor that Leopold committed suicide through crowds of curious people to the county jail, Waverly Westbrooke, ridiculed the possibility, although he admitted that the guard had been doubled. Every ten minutes the guard reports on the actions of the prisoners; what they do, whom they talk with, what they said and their apparent mental condition.

Mr. Darrow's first question of Dr. Singer was whether he had found any evidence whatever of "unusual personality" in the defendants.

The witness named selfishness and domineering personality as such evidence.

Dr. Singer said that the real test of a paranoiac was "eccentric" character. He acknowledged that paranoiacs learn rapidly.

"Is a paranoiac personality a diseased personality?" he asked.

"I make no distinction there," was the reply.

"Well, you find out how many inmates of institutions are paranoiacs, don't you?" continued Mr. Darrow.

"Yes, probably six to eight per cent," said Dr. Singer.

They agreed that these classifications were "not less arbitrary."

Then Mr. Darrow went back to the book. Dr. Singer said that when psychosis was reached, insanity was present.

"Would you consider paranoiac or eccentric personality a pathological condition?" he asked.

"That depends upon how you use the term 'pathological,'" said Dr. Singer.

The witness said that psychopathic personalities were "not well balanced."

"His character," the doctor explained, "is that he lives chiefly in the moment without relation to the future or the past."

"Is that due to physical conditions?" pursued Mr. Darrow.

"Not so far as I know," replied Dr. Singer.

Conditions which produce a psychopathic personality and psychosis are not the same, Dr. Singer said. He modified this by saying there was a relation between the psychopathic personality and the psychosis that might develop from it.

"How do you detect psychopathic personality?" asked Mr. Darrow.

"By studying how he behaves. The chief character is his living in the moment," said Dr. Singer.

"How do you study psychosis?"

"By the same methods."

"You give a good deal of space in your book to psychopathic cases, don't you?" asked Mr. Darrow.

"Yes, sir."

Then the questioner drew out an opinion that "everybody has a certain amount of paranoiac personality."

DISSENS "SIZZY" THING

CHICAGO, August 15 (By the Associated Press).—The hearing of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, co-defendants in the Frank's murder case, started upon its final lap this morning. The prospect of further discussion of that "sizzly thing," as Attorney Clarence S. Darrow called "schizophrenia," did not deter the eagerness of the curiously gathered audience.

Dr. H. H. H. Singer, a state alienist, who used the term to denote a split personality, was on the stand for further cross-examination.

proceedings were debated. It is claimed that the aspiring candidate from Somerville, is one of those who opposed the commissioners' decision and now proposes to run for office with the frank intention of defeating Mr. Cutting. The latter is fully aware that he has an active opponent. It is said, but will go to the September primaries with confidence.

The campaign against the county commissioners, who are seeking terms for four more years, is said to be well organized and influential. The protest involves the nomination of a lawyer and a barrel manufacturer in place of Messrs. Cutting and Wardwell.

Two candidates are said to be prepared to wage a vigorous political battle to secure the republican county commission nomination at the coming primaries. They are William J. Andrews of Somerville, an attorney, who has been a familiar figure in legal circles and courts in greater Boston.

The second candidate is Andrew J. Wardwell of Cambridge, a barrel manufacturer—no relation of the present county commissioner, by the way. The latter's entrance into the political fight for the commission nomination has caused considerable gossip.

There is considerable discussion in county political circles, also, regarding the entrance of the Cambridge Wardwell, as a contestant for the commission nomination now held by Walter C. Wardwell. The fact the names of two Wardwells will appear on the primary ballot next month, is commented upon freely by members of both political factions throughout the county at large. Some party activists not content are wondering how it happened the present county commission contest are wonderful how it happened. They agree that it is just a coincidence. So, frankly, they declare that two names on the ballot of the same kind will confuse the voters.

EARLY RATIFICATION OF LONDON AGREEMENT IS EXPECTED

Program for Launching Dawes Reparation Plan Goes Before French Parliament and German Reichstag for Ratification

LONDON, Aug. 18.—(By the Associated Press) The program for launching the Dawes reparation plan, initiated by the delegates to the international conference which closed here Saturday and the German reichstag for its ratification. Prospects are favorable for its adoption by both bodies according to despatches from the capitals.

The nationalists in Germany, as was expected, are leading the opposition to the program, but it is declared they will scarcely go so far as to adopt a parliamentary attitude which would result in a defeat of the government, dissolution of the reichstag and new elections, in which they could not hope to better their position.

Paris advances are that the French parliament has practically decided to sustain the foreign policy of Premier Herriot for the time being. There is likely to be an extensive debate, with heated interpellations, but no determination drive against the agreement in the London agreement is expected.

It is hoped that the ratification will be forthcoming within the next fortnight so the representatives of all the interested powers can assemble here on August 30 for formal signature of the agreement.

Herriot gave the first message to the British people in which he expressed gratitude for the welcome accorded the French delegates and said he hoped the conference would mark a renewal of the entente cordiale.

"We must continue to work for the peace of Europe and for friendship between the peoples of the world," he added. "France and Great Britain must be united to satisfy the problems which are still outstanding."

Herriot and Marx Shake
LONDON, Aug. 18.—(By the Associated Press) The story of the London conference closed Saturday night with a noteworthy incident. The signing of the documents was ended, and the British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, was shaking hands all round. When he came to Chancellor Marx the chancellor's hand, led him to where M. Herriot, the French premier, was standing surrounded by friends.

Without a word, so the story goes, Mr. MacDonald lifted M. Herriot's right hand and joined it with that of Dr. Marx. Then he stepped back, smiling genially, while the Frenchman and the German tightened the grip and shook hands cordially.

Unqualified pleasure is expressed in all official quarters here at the success of the conference. King George and Brig. Gen. Dawes sent messages of congratulation to the prime minister. The delegates have all left London with the exception of Mr. Herriot and some of his colleagues. They will return on Aug. 30 for final formalities and the signature of the protocols, provided the French and German parliaments vote ratification.

No difficulty is expected in the British or Italian parliaments.

Premier Herriot Talks
LONDON, Aug. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—M. Herriot, the French premier, made a long statement to the press representatives in London last night with a view, as he explained it, to clarifying the position of his government to his countrymen.

"We have reestablished the inter-allied front in London in the event of Germany falling to keep her engagements," he declared.

M. Herriot outlined all the provisions of the Dawes plan having to do with guarantees to the allies, and therefore to France.

The railways he regarded as one of the most important parts of the scheme. He said that the railway entire railway operations will be in all probability a Frenchman. All these he considered important guarantees for France.

Puts Hope in America
"The United States has agreed to co-operate in the control to be exercised over Germany," the premier continued. "Germany is not required to undergo this control passively, but to accept it freely."

"The method is longer and more difficult to apply, but henceforward Germany will be able to meet the requirements of the whole world, with the United States as with France."

"Should she fail to meet the engagements thus contracted, the honor of all nations who entered into these engagements with her would compel them to rise against her."

M. Herriot said his advisers estimated that under the new scheme of transfers and deliveries in kind France would be able to inscribe a first annuity of about 300,000,000 francs. That would be something new.

"Further," the premier went on, "we are insured coal and coke for a number of years. These are realities."

"The French people have had enough of following chimeras. The solution we have begun at London brings us at once substantial realities and peace."

"Whether one favored the occupation of the Ruhr or not, one must agree that the Dawes scheme furnishes us with pledges infinitely more extensive and productive than the former pledges."

SEES REVIVAL IN WORLD TRADE

Chief of European Division of Dept. of Commerce Discusses Dawes Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Stabilization of the European economic situation with consequent revival in world trade was predicted today by Alan G. Goldsmith, chief of the European division of the department of commerce, as a result of the approval of the Dawes plan.

Goldsmith, who was one of the experts associated with the Dawes committee which formulated proposals for financial stabilization in Germany and economic reorganization in Europe generally, said increased exports of European goods resulting from improved conditions would bring about sharper competition in outlying markets, "but at the same time a raising of the consuming power of the entire world, particularly the disturbed areas of Europe." Such a revival in Europe, he asserted, would naturally stimulate American exports.

MICHIGAN FARMERS VISIT MASSACHUSETTS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 18.—Nearly 1000 farmers of Michigan, most of them members of the Patrons of Husbandry or Grangers, who are making a tour of the state, arrived in Massachusetts at noon today. They were met at the state line in Longmeadow, by Mayor Leonard of this city, and State and National Grange officials who extended a welcome on behalf of city and state.

After a tour of the city, the visitors went to the eastern states exposition grounds for an open air luncheon and a meeting at which E. L. Taber of Columbus, O., master of the National Grange, made the principal address, taking as his subject "the farmers of tomorrow."

Tonight there will be a mass meeting in the Auditorium, the chief feature of which will be a pageant, "50 years of Grange history."

GRAIN PRICES SOAR

New High Price Records Reached by All Deliveries of Corn, Oats and Rye

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—New high price records for the season were reached today by all deliveries of corn, oats and rye. Corn went as high as 56 cents above Saturday's finish, September corn reaching $1.24 and December $1.20 1/2.

On the advance profit-taking sales quickly broadened, and top quotations were soon lost. Simultaneous with the crash in price, announcements were made that one grain firm, caught on the wrong side of the market, had failed. The concern involved, however, was a small one, Somers, Jones and Co.

Ida Cohen and her sister, Fay, of the Bronx; William Ruff, owner of the car, also of the Bronx; Herman Rothstein, of Brooklyn, and Milton Goodman, address unknown.

Alfred Jones, of White Plains, engineer of the train, was arrested on a technical charge of homicide. He was released when he promised to appear at the inquest.

The train was travelling about 60 miles an hour when it collided with the automobile.

It is thought the engine of the automobile stalled in the middle of the tracks. The steamman at the crossing went off duty at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and there was only an automatic signal at the crossing at the time of the crash.

WELLS, WHO CONFESSED TO ROBBERY, OUT ON BAIL

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 18.—Gordon Wells, who has already confessed to a robbery, was today released on bail of $5000, as the instigator of the affair, is at liberty today under bail of $5000. Wells was also in court, but was unable to furnish bail although his counsel said that this would likely be furnished soon. Moyers, who disappeared after the robbery, has not yet been located by officials.

BUTLER SEES G. O. P. IMPROVEMENT

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—William M. Butler, national republican chairman, in a statement today said his reports showed a steady and consistent improvement in the republican campaign and that he had found that President Coolidge's own issue, "common sense," appeals to many.

Mr. Butler in indicating republican hopes and expectations, said: "Maryland looks very good" and "Kentucky, I can also speak of with confidence. In Kentucky we will win a new senatorial seat."

In New York and New Jersey villages and towns, he said, Coolidge-Dawes clubs are being organized to obtain pledges for a solid republican vote for each community. He said he questioned persons who brought these reports as to what sort of committees and people signed these pledges and received the reply: "The men who work at 7 and the women who hang out their own clothes on Monday morning."

BOOSTING LOWELL BY POSTAL CARDS

The patriotic fame of Lowell and Lowell heroes of American wars is to be extolled once again in fields far from home, this time through the agency of Lowell Post No. 87, American Legion, with the co-operation of Lowell chamber of commerce executives.

Secretary-Manager George S. Wells, of the Lowell chamber, has ordered 400 postal cards to be printed, each bearing a handsome half-ton engraving of the Lowell Memorial Auditorium. They are to be forwarded to the executives of the department of Massachusetts, American Legion, for distribution to several thousand delegates and guests, who will attend the annual state convention of the World War Veterans at Pittsfield, Aug. 21, 22 and 23.

The distribution of these reminders of Lowell and the beautiful memorial structure that stands in the heart of the city, dedicated to the deeds and memories of all Lowell citizens who served their country in time of war, is the fullest approval of the American Legion members. The decision to have the souvenir postal cards printed and distributed, followed an informal call by the secretary of the local chamber of commerce, a well known leader of Lowell legionnaire activities, who desired to place Lowell prominently in the perspective at the coming state convention in Pittsfield. He sought advice from chamber headquarters as to the best possible plans to be followed. It was decided to have souvenir postal cards printed and distributed.

The postal cards will be carried to the convention next week, and distributed to all legionnaires and others who may be present during the three day annual rally of the veterans and auxiliaries. The legion members also have access to ample supplies of chamber of commerce booklets. These are four-paged and contain a wealth of interesting matter about the municipality, its government, physical characteristics, industries, public institutions, etc. The booklets are small enough to be carried in an ordinary coat pocket. The chamber has a large supply of them regularly on hand for free distribution to any place on earth.

The photographic souvenir postal cards of the Auditorium will contain a printing matter with the exception of the necessary title and address.

THEY'RE ALL IN THE SAME BOAT NOW

The day of the $50 fine for illegal selling beer has passed, as far as the local district court is concerned. When Solomon Guerin was called to answer a complaint of this nature this morning, Judge Enright imposed a fine of $100, saying that he was through selling defendants $50 in view of the fact that the liquid is being dispensed here in wholesale quantities.

Until today, it had been customary to fine a seller $50, and other violators of the prohibition amendment $100. With the new ruling becoming effective, however, the dealers in the so-called "lighter" beverages will be dealt with on the same terms as the bootlegger now so liberally dispensed.

VIOLENT BREAK IN COTTON PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Additional cotton crop estimates from private sources, suggesting a yield of at least 13 1/2 million bales coupled with overabundant weather, resulted in another violent break in cotton prices here today. ## MACLAREN ABANDONS FLIGHT PLANE

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Aug. 18.—Major A. Stuart MacLaren, British aviator, who failed in an attempt to fly around the world, has announced that he probably will not make another attempt to circle the globe. Upon his arrival here two days ago he had said he would try again if the American flyers should fall in their round-the-world flight.

Major MacLaren asserted that such a venture, to be a success, must be backed by greater resources than private firms can provide.

Major MacLaren admitted that he sat on the beach and wept after his plane had been hopelessly damaged in the surf at Nikolski Island, off Siberia.

The additional charge of assaulting an officer was preferred against Karkota and this morning he was found guilty of both counts, and continued in $400 until tomorrow. The court originally revoked a suspended sentence to the state farm, but later ordered the continuance to allow Officer Murphy to seek compensation for his injured garment.

EVACUATION OF HAITI URGED

Military Occupation Cannot Be Justified, Says Dr. Leo S. Rowe

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 18.—That the military occupation of Haiti and the Dominican Republic cannot be justified either by invoking the Monroe doctrine or by any other accepted principle of American foreign policy, was the conclusion arrived at by Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director-general of the Pan-American union, in his round table conference on Latin-American affairs at the Institute of Politics today. Dr. Rowe found the explanation for the occupation in large measure in the circumstances of the World war.

"The government of the United States," he said, "was anxious to avoid any possible cause of complication and it was feared that the disorders in Haiti, and the Dominican Republic might give rise to such complications. These were the final inducing causes for the decision to proceed with the military occupation. The evacuation of the Dominican Republic which has just been completed should be followed as soon as possible by the evacuation of Haiti."

A hopeful view of the future of China was presented by J. V. A. MacMurray of the department of states, who told the Culbertson conference that the consortium and the open air principle of fair play accepted and defined by mutual agreement at the Washington conference opened the way for healthy development of the resources of China through the participation of foreign capital on a genuinely economic basis.

Contrary to the belief that the success of the Dawes plan would work harm to the industries of other countries by flooding the market with German goods, Professor Ailyn A. Young of Harvard declared at his round table conference that the United States would be benefitted by payment of reparations, since the raw materials for some of Germany's important industries came from the United States.

MOVE TO PREVENT RED INDICTMENT FAILS

FITCHBURG, Mass., Aug. 18.—In an effort to prevent indictment of John Rea, alleged murderer of two Barre men, his counsel, Attorney Ira D. Farquhar of Boston, filed three motions with Chief Justice Walter Perley Hall at the opening of the August term of superior court here today. The petitions, all of which were denied after being opposed by District Attorney Emerson W. Baker, requested the court to restrain the district attorney from submitting the facts in the Rea case to the grand jury to inform the grand jury of the defendant's mental condition and to have a commission appointed to examine Rea to determine his mental condition.

In dismissing the motions, Judge Hall said the evidence that he presented to the grand jury and the question of appointing a commission to examine the defendant can not properly be taken up until after an indictment is returned. Rea is accused of shooting Linda Centrochio and Samuel Polco, July 13.

PLANS OF PROHIBITION PARTY CAMPAIGN

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 18.—The prohibition party will wage its campaign on the merits of the party and not on the merits of other parties. H. P. Paris, prohibition party nominee for president, declared in an address prepared for delivery at the Missouri state fair today.

Outlining the reforms declared for by the prohibition party, "years before thought of by others," Mr. Paris said: "Rural free delivery of the mails; parcel post; postal savings banks; good roads; postal federal aid; income taxes; election of United States senators by direct vote of the people; prohibition and woman suffrage."

"Is it not time now," he asked, "that a party capable of exhibiting for more than half a century, such stateanship is entitled to be placed in position to enforce the laws which both the other parties have so signally failed to enforce?"

REPORTS ON CONDITIONS IN BRAZIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Felix Pacheco, minister of foreign affairs in the Brazilian government, has cabled in response to inquiries from the Associated Press, that he is aware of published reports that there have been revolutionary outbreaks in the province of Amazonas, as well as in Sao Paulo.

"I am sure," says Minister Pacheco, "that the truth will destroy immediately all new generations, as was the case in Sao Paulo. Our government is each time stronger with greater prestige as a result of public support. It will without doubt maintain constitutional order which must direct forever the free democracies of America."

DRY FORCES MOBILIZE TO AID R. I. AGENTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 18.—Prohibition agents from several states are mobilizing here to aid the Rhode Island forces in beating off rum-smuggling parties who have coast guard gunboats its newly created "dry" fleet for a major offensive soon against the rum fleet off Black Island. It is anticipated here that Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts bootleggers will attempt to "stock up" with huge supplies of liquor from off Black Island before the coast guard strikes its first major offensive.

STOCK MARKET START BEGUN, SAYS HUGHES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Execution of the Dawes plan will lay the foundation for economic recovery of Europe and rebound to the advantage of every nation, is the opinion of Secretary Hughes.

"The great thing is to make a start," the secretary said, "and in the London agreement the start has begun."

He added that the negotiations could not have been carried to completion "except for the splendid cooperation of the allied governments and Germany and their earnest desire for agreement."

City Engineer Fights Change

Continued

Figures challenged

On the matter of discontinuing work on Gorkum street the board decided to take a view. Originally it was planned to renew the street from Cogsworth street to the city line. The superintendent of streets met strenuous objection from the city engineer when he broached a plan to use asphalt rather than cement concrete, "saving the city a thousand dollars or so."

City Engineer Kearney challenged the figures of the superintendent and put himself strongly on record as against changing his specifications. "Cement concrete is the standard of traffic into Lowell," said the city engineer. "There is a constant stream of heavy traffic. You have but an 11-foot roadway on each side of the car tracks and there is no shoulder to the roadway. On a wider area I might lend approval to the suggestion, were it also a less traveled street. Eleven feet of asphalt will rot and the road will be a constant source of trouble. I have specifically and purposely recommended after a thorough study of the problem there. If the board wishes to take the recommendation of the superintendent that the work be suspended where it now stands—about half way out—that is a matter of policy that I have nothing to do with. However, if the board contemplates any change from cement concrete to asphalt, I wish to record myself against it from the standpoint of an engineer. There would be no saving. The road would not stand up. If we are building for permanence we want cement concrete as called for."

The board decided to take a view before making any decision, the city engineer and superintendent to accompany them on the view.

Trouble Over Junk

The city solicitor appeared relative to the troubles of James Day, who bought some junk from the water department. R. W. Gardner, superintendent of the water department, claimed Day was the city's $95 for some old junk purchased some time ago and halted removal of other junk pending settlement of the claim. Mr. Day claims this is a separate contract and old agreements should not react against him. The city solicitor and chairman of the board said verbally with the junk dealer that the old bill should be referred to the city solicitor to collect.

Day was given a contract Friday under which he is buying junk from the water department. Mr. Meloy agreed with Mr. Murphy that the legal but not the moral aspect could only be considered by the board. Mr. Day was authorized to proceed while the water works superintendent was instructed to stop the collection of what he claims is due the department.

Commitments and receipts in the water department are $10,000 behind this time last year, John W. Crawford, chief clerk in the water department office, told the board. The statistics were asked to guide the board in making a decision on the suggestion made by Mr. Meloy last week that $20,000 be borrowed and 25 men be put to work on water main extensions in addition to the regular department laborers.

Councillor Daniel F. Cosgrove appeared to urge sidewalk repairs and replacements. The matter was referred to the superintendent of streets with orders to alleviate conditions.

At a meeting, at 2.15 p. m., was the regular Thursday session of the board being set back one day. On Thursday the board will attend the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Highway association. The affair, arranged by Mayor James M. Curley and Councillor James M. Watson of Boston, will consist of a sail around Boston harbor.

FOSTER ATTACKS DAVIS AND COOLIDGE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., August 18.—William Z. Foster, workers' party candidate for president, opening the first election campaign waged by the communists in America, in an address here yesterday denounced both President Coolidge and John W. Davis as "agents of Wall street."

Of Coolidge he said: "His servility

in bowing to the wishes of New England capitalism, by using the office of governor of Massachusetts to crush the Boston police strike in 1919, won for him the first sign of real recognition, not alone from the capitalists of New England, but Wall street itself recognized immediately that Coolidge was a man after its own heart."

The communist candidate said of Davis: "He is the Morgan lawyer, picked by the House of Morgan to be their successor to Elihu Root. Davis hails from West Virginia, the land of the open shop coal companies. He has accepted a big fee from these companies, so that his sympathies lie close to home. While he was ambassador to England, he served in good stead the interests of United States Steel, Standard Oil, Bell Telephone and the Chicago packers."

Discussing what he described as La Follette's plan of "purifying" the government and breaking up the trusts, Foster declared that "the socialists, the petty bourgeois, the American Federation of Labor, labor aristocracy, will prove to be the last bulwark of capitalism. When the big capitalist parties are no longer able to delude the masses and to mobilize them for political action against their interests, then the La Follette and the Magnus Johnsons will be on hand with their policy of reforming the capitalist system to suit their own middle class desires and to prevent the workers from taking effective revolutionary action."

Applicants for licenses as operators of motor vehicles were discouraged today because of the fact that Prince street, where they wait in line for their turn with the examiners, is being ripped up by a public utility corporation. The whole length of the street is being ripped by a wide trench, the company intending to relay the main there.

The street will be under repairs until Sept. 12, according to the record of the street department. In the meantime, with a view to relieving the traffic congestion around city hall, it is quite likely that the motor vehicle department will again have to use Dutton street, which thoroughfare was in use when the branch registry was located in the Mongeau building.

PLANNING ANNUAL PLAYGROUND PAGEANT

Workers on the city playgrounds this morning were in conference in the park department offices at city hall with Arthur Sullivan, director of playground work. The meeting was principally for the purpose of outlining plans for the annual pageant which will mark the end of the playground season. The definite date has not been announced.

"A Trip to the Isle of Dolls," the title of the 1924 pageant gives a key to what may be expected of the playgrounds children, directed by a corps of capable and enthusiastic workers. Last year the "Pageant of Nations" was a great success and this year's offering is expected to eclipse that.

RIALTO THEATRE

The stunt king, Richard Talmadge, will be seen at the Rialto starting today in his very latest thriller, "Fast Company," a picture that is described as a comedy riot. Of course anyone who has seen Talmadge does not have to be told twice that Talmadge's middle name is Action, spelled with a capital "A." "Fast Company" is the latest picture that he made before he broke his neck doing some of his hair-raising stunts. In "Fast Company" he is seen as a college youth who is leading a rather wild life and traveling with fast company. He is thrown out of his own home as well as college, and with but a hundred dollars in his pockets he goes out to face the world. He falls in love with an actress and this starts all sorts of strange complications. A thrilling fight in the prize ring in which Talmadge is one of the participants, is one of the features of the film. If you like action and plenty of it, see Talmadge in this picture. He is ably supported by a splendid cast that includes Mildred Harris and Sheldon Lewis.

"The Man Who Waited," which is the companion feature, tells a story about a youth who searches many years for the culprit who was responsible for the death of his father. He finds one of them only to learn that he is the father of the girl with whom he is in love! Here's a novel situation!

Another exciting round of H. C. Witwer's "Fighting Blood," a good comedy and Fox news are included in this lengthy and splendid program.

MERRIMACK SQUARE

"The Bedroom Window," a William de Mille production, is now playing at the Merrimack Square theatre for a run of four days. May McAvoy, Malcolm McGregor, Ricardo Cortez, Robert Edeson, George Fawcett and Ethel Wales are all featured in leading roles.

The story, written especially for the screen by Clara Beranger, is a mystery-melodrama murder-comedy-love story on the order of "The Acquittal" and "Grumpy," but even more novel and startling than either of those successes.

The second feature for the first part of the week is "The Girl of the Limberlost," adapted from Gene Stratton Porter's noted novel, with an all-star cast. The latest International News and an excellent comedy complete the bill.

The stunt king, Richard Talmadge, will be seen at the Rialto starting today in his very latest thriller, "Fast Company," a picture that is described as a comedy riot. Of course anyone who has seen Talmadge does not have to be told twice that Talmadge's middle name is Action, spelled with a capital "A." "Fast Company" is the latest picture that he made before he broke his neck doing some of his hair-raising stunts. In "Fast Company" he is seen as a college youth who is leading a rather wild life and traveling with fast company. He is thrown out of his own home as well as college, and with but a hundred dollars in his pockets he goes out to face the world. He falls in love with an actress and this starts all sorts of strange complications. A thrilling fight in the prize ring in which Talmadge is one of the participants, is one of the features of the film. If you like action and plenty of it, see Talmadge in this picture. He is ably supported by a splendid cast that includes Mildred Harris and Sheldon Lewis.

"The Man Who Waited," which is the companion feature, tells a story about a youth who searches many years for the culprit who was responsible for the death of his father. He finds one of them only to learn that he is the father of the girl with whom he is in love! Here's a novel situation!

Another exciting round of H. C. Witwer's "Fighting Blood," a good comedy and Fox news are included in this lengthy and splendid program.

The story, written especially for the screen by Clara Beranger, is a mystery-melodrama murder-comedy-love story on the order of "The Acquittal" and "Grumpy," but even more novel and startling than either of those successes.

The second feature for the first part of the week is "The Girl of the Limberlost," adapted from Gene Stratton Porter's noted novel, with an all-star cast. The latest International News and an excellent comedy complete the bill.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT ON ANXIOUS SEAT

The school department is looking forward hopefully to the meeting of the city council scheduled for tomorrow night, expecting some action on a letter sent some time ago, asking for funds for seven new portable school-houses and also for the completion of a badly needed unfinished room in the Sycamore Street school.

Portables, made by the department of lands and buildings, cost from $2200 to $2700 each. School authorities say three are sorely needed for the opening of the September term at the Merrill school while the others would be distributed to schools where congestion is most noted.

AUTO BADLY DAMAGED

An automobile owned by Alphonse Racicot of 12 Willie street was badly damaged yesterday afternoon when it was in collision with a machine operated by Joseph Keough of 130 Mt. Pleasant street, Roxbury. The accident occurred at Pawtucket and Fletcher streets.

FOR A CLEANER CITY

The committee that is agitating for a cleaner city has in hand a subject of great possibilities. Some such committee is needed to direct public attention to the indifference of a great many people to the matter of public cleanliness.

A tour of the streets in the congested districts would indicate that nobody has any idea other than that the street is the proper place in which to dump all kinds of rubbish. Yet we have regulations framed by the health department providing that such rubbish shall be kept in proper receptacles and put out on the sidewalks at stated periods to be taken away by the city ash collectors. Perhaps the offenders in this respect are encouraged in their disregard of public cleanliness, by the absence of any regular effort by the city departments to clean up the streets. It is the aim of the street department to clean up all the streets; but it seems that many have been overlooked. Perhaps the sweepers and scrapers will eventually get around to all of them and remove the accumulations of rubbish piled up in the gutters.

Who is responsible for such conditions? First the municipal authorities for tolerating such indifference to public cleanliness. The policemen on their beats should notify parents that the street is not the proper place to dump rubbish. "Oh," they will say, "it was the children who scattered the rubbish on the street." Well, if so, hold the parents responsible for the misdeeds of the children. It is their duty to see that the children respect the laws of cleanliness and health and one of these prohibits the dumping of rubbish in the gutters or streets.

Evidently a campaign of education is necessary to effect the desired reform and this Cleaner City committee, if backed up by the newspapers, can accomplish the desired end and teach those who are largely responsible for unclean or unsightly streets, to do their full duty in compliance with the law. But the authorities will first have to do their part and show the public that they mean business, that the talk of cleaner streets is not merely hot air. Quite a number of the worst offenders against public cleanliness will be more impressed with the appearance of a police officer than by scores of letters or threats from any other source. Therefore, let the policeman on his beat be instructed to notify the parties who scatter rubbish on the streets that they must pick it up and put it in a proper receptacle to be carried off as the law provides. Persistence in such a policy would soon give us more sightly streets and a cleaner city. But the street department must also do its duty in using the scrapers and sweepers in some of the back streets as well as on the principal thoroughfares.

THE 13-MONTH CALENDAR

For some years past an agitation has been in progress in favor of a change in our calendar that would give us instead of the present arrangement, 13 months of 25 days or four weeks each, with one odd day left out for New Year and two additional days added every fourth year.

At first this proposition, which was worked out by a French engineer named Delaporte, was considered somewhat of a joke, but now it appears that Dr. C. F. Marvin, chief of the United States Weather Bureau, is in favor of the change and suggests that it should be put into operation in 1925 as that year begins on Sunday and, therefore, the first day of the 13th month year would also fall on Sunday, and thus become a fixture.

Truman Stevens has an interesting article in the Popular Science Monthly in reference to this proposed new calendar and the efforts made by scientists in the past to devise a calendar that will accurately measure time as indicated by the daily revolutions of the earth and the changes of the seasons. The chief difficulty arises in having the calendar agree with the astronomical year.

In the Gregorian system as a result of dividing the year into months of various lengths, no two consecutive months or years begin with the same day of the week. This irregularity would be overcome by the 13th month calendar which would start the year on December 22, the first day of winter, and divide it into 364 days. Each month would consist of four seven-day weeks and the year would be divided into four equal seasons of 13 weeks each, spring beginning on the eighth day of the third month, summer on the 15th day of the seventh month, and autumn on the 22d day of the 10th month. There would be one extra day left out of the reckoning between the beginning and end of the year and two of these extra days, every fourth year in order to keep the calendar astronomically correct.

The plan would have some advantages over the present calendar although the idea of the odd days not included in the year, would seem rather anomalous. Those who favor the plan, however, say that it would be of great benefit in the transaction of business as it will insure men being paid the same monthly wage instead of variable sums as at present. From the religious point of view, the new calendar would have no movable feasts as all would fall upon fixed days of the week. So with state holidays. It is claimed also, that the change could be accomplished without confusion and that its adoption would simplify many of the activities of the present-day life and greatly facilitate the remembrance of dates of important events.

The change, however, would have to be authorized by an act of congress, and unless adopted by other countries at the same time would be the source of international confusion.

OUR CRIMINAL RECORD

In welcoming a new appointee to the court of general sessions in New York, the other day, Judge Talley said that at the present time, the United States must plead guilty to being "the most lawless country on earth." This, he claimed, was borne out by statistics of civilized nations. This he said is due to the failure of our police and our courts to bring the perpetrators of major crimes to swift and accurate justice.

That is a sad commentary upon the administration of justice in this country; and in view of the vast number of cases growing out of the enforcement of the Volstead law, this result is not surprising. The courts cannot handle the increased volume of business. Last year, according to Commissioner Haynes, 41,000 cases were instituted on criminal charges in two months; and only 5,000 convictions were obtained.

This indicates that the courts have been so flooded with cases since the coming of prohibition that they cannot dispose of the vast volume of business pressing upon them. The court dockets are glutted as never before, with the result that some cases hang over until all interest in them is lost and very often also the evidence to convict.

Traffic cases also form a new source of trouble for the courts; but in some large cities this difficulty is overcome by having a special court for such cases.

In cities like New York and Chicago, this has a bad effect and highway men, bank robbers and murderers are but rarely caught or convicted. That is one reason why when such criminals are caught and when the proof of guilt is unquestioned, they should be promptly punished to the full extent of the law.

The people are watching the murder trial at Chicago to see whether the two wealthy criminals will be sent to the gallows or whether they will be saved on the silly, foolish and disgusting testimony of so called alienists who are well paid for devising theories to give color of substantiation to the claim that the prisoners are not morally responsible. If they are not executed the result will be a victory for criminality; and the verdict of public opinion will be that great wealth can purchase immunity even for the most heinous murder.

A SELLER'S MARKET

Are the cotton textiles staging a real comeback? Many industrial leaders say so, although few textile mill owners will make many cheerful predictions worth recording. There has, nevertheless, been a brisk business in several textile cloth lines during the past few weeks. After nearly seven months of monotonous decline in prices and dragging sales, the market for cotton textiles appears to be looking upward in many producing and distributing centers.

Leading commission houses are doing a fully normal business in respect to volume in market contrast to anything experienced for months. Prices, too, are rising all along the line. Knapped goods have advanced, percales are higher, wide cloths priced a little above the last quotations made in early July trading, and worst cloth are up one-quarter of a cent per yard.

The strengthening markets have been brought about, undoubtedly, by the strength of raw cotton and the improved condition of the farming industry. Hopes for enormous crops are diminishing under unfavorable weather conditions. Heavily carted buying by the wholesale and retail trades for nearly a year, and the heaviest mill production output on record over the last six months, have actually created a vacuum in stocks of textile goods that are in demand in some quarters. Happily, Lowell mills in several instances have already felt the effects of this rising wave of increased business in textiles and there is growing confidence of steadily improving business as the fall approaches.

The one important question before the people of this country is when is business going to get back to normal. The prospect of a democratic victory in November will help to restore confidence.

The weather man seems to be in a pessimist mood since he sent us that young cyclone. It is now following up the thrills by a series of chills.

Funny things happen every day. We ship spaghetti to Italy.

Los Angeles doctor claims thousands have died from kissing. We claimed many more are dying to be kissed.

A New Orleans theatre was filled to overflowing at a matinee performance, the result of an announcement by the manager that all bobbed haired girls would be admitted free.

A Thought

Sorry He Spoke
A modern young man kissed a beautiful modern girl. "Will he frank with you," the young man said, after the embrace was over. "You're not the first girl I've ever kissed by a long shot." "I'm a modern girl," she answered. "I should say I am," answered Smith. "Why, he even carries his watch in his hip pocket to prevent him ever being behind time."

Ahead of Time
"Who's that?" asked Smith as he walked along the street by the side of his friend Jones, who had just nodded to someone on the other side. "That's Wheeler," was the reply. "O, Wheeler, isn't it? I've heard he's a crank for punctuality." "I should say he is," answered Smith. "Why, he even carries his watch in his hip pocket to prevent him ever being behind time."

The Neatest Thief
Candy has been stolen from babies' pennies have been taken from the stands of newsboys, toy women have been struck by big men, but never, in the history of Pittsburgh, Penn., police department has a trades seapoth and a nice big shady umbrella been stolen from a traffic policeman, until a truck driver set the precedent while Traffic Officer Wertman went to dinner.

Had the Price
After searching a man accused of evading his fare and failing to find any of his pockets, railroad police at Springfield, Ill., declared, "Unless he should pay, much to their surprise, he offered to do this rather than face arrest. While the police looked on, he reached around beneath his collar and abstracted 55¢ from a neat little pocket sewed into the lining, paid his fare and walked away with a condescending smile for the detectives who had failed to find his 'roll'."

The Only Island
When a native Prince Edward Islander had sailed forth to see the world, he engaged a room at a modest hotel in Boston, intending to remain there while he hunted for work.

"Will you register?" asked the clerk, handing him a pen.

"Register?" said the traveler. "What's that?"

"Write your name."

"What for?"

"We are required to keep a record of all our guests."

The man wrote his name and was about to lay down the pen when the clerk added:

"Now the place, if you please."

"What place?"

"The place you came from. Where do you live?"

"I live on the island."

"Oh, well, but what island?"

The other looked at him in amazement. Then he said with an emphasis that left no doubt of his feelings:

"Prince Edward Island, man. What other island is there?"—North Shore Leader.

Second Mortgage
Yamps have only second mortgages on married victims of their wiles. Such is the official opinion of Circuit Judge Rossman of Portland, Ore. in declaring open season on "love nest" builders.

Included in rear unlawful dovecotes on the ruins of another woman's house, using her husband as chief provider. Under Sir John's history-making edict, swank ladies of the garden variety who neither toll nor spin, will henceforth be compelled to halve all earnings with the first wife upon marrying the unfaithful object of their desires. Attacking yamps via the pocket-book route, Judge Rossman believes, will prove a deterrent to feminine home wreckers.

They will have to love a man for himself alone, knowing that financially he is but half a man. "When a woman gets a secondhand husband, I consider she is entitled to a second mortgage on his purse. She must divide her husband's income with his ex-wife," were the judge's official words.

Can two couples have come about this new edict and in each instance the light of love was said to have faded in the yamp's face, when she found the old yamp check had to be split two ways every week.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Have you noticed how the bathing girl has come into prominence of late. Many auto windshield or window displays the sporting mermaids. A fad for them has grown to great size. However, in New Hampshire, however, if you would enter there, this commission of motor vehicles has pulled they obstruct front and rear views and has instructed his inspectors to halt the fad.

Between the labels of seekers for political preferment, pennants advising that the next grand old man plan an outing August 28, and the bathing girls, some auto windshields bear all the appearance of being owned by screen-law violators.

Judge Enright evidently meant it when he said those who drive when the check will wait when the season is over. "The last shall be first."

Taking $170,000 from the prior revenue fund to chop the tax rate is going to give the apothecaries a great topic to care about.

AMERICAN BOY SCOUTS WIN PRIZE CUP

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 18.—The American Boy Scouts were awarded the highest number of points for their participation in the international scout jamboree which ended here yesterday, thus winning the prize cup offered by King Christian. The Americans scored 181 points against 172 for the British scouts who took second place. The award is unanimously endorsed by the newspapers this morning.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS AND AUTO ACCIDENTS

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Aug. 18.—That drunken motorists are slow to learn the desirability of sobriety is shown by the fact that one Massachusetts driver was last week found guilty for the fourth time on a charge of operating while under the influence of liquor. He was sentenced to jail, but appealed.

During the week which ended Thursday night last, five auto accidents in which six children were killed in motor vehicle accidents in this state, the total being three less than for the previous week.

Convictions for operating while under the influence of liquor totaled 94, this being 17 less than in the previous week. During the six-day period, licenses of 138 operators became suspended, from court records and other sources, that they had been driving after imbibing.

Of the 94 convicted last week, five were to jail. Three others were convicted of second offenses, and of these, one paid a fine, and the other two, sentenced to jail, appealed.

Four hundred and twenty-nine persons were notified that their driving licenses had been suspended, this being by far the largest number in any one week of the present year.

In addition to the 138 liquor cases, there were others for the following causes: Improper operation, 21; operating recklessly and so on to danger the public, 30; going away after accident without disclosing identity of the owner, 4; operating without license, 10; improper equipment, 37; fatal accidents, 16; miscellaneous offenses, 6.

KIDDIES' DAY AT MERRIMACK PARK

Between 3000 and 3500 kiddies are expected to be at Merrimack Park Friday afternoon when the "Monster Kiddies' day," which is being planned by Arthur L. LeBonie, the park manager, will be staged.

A big feature of the day will be the ten cent round trip ticket on the electric, a five-cent fare cash way, which is a 15-cent reduction over the regular price. To get the special rate the children must ride on the special cars which will leave the square at 1:15 o'clock and return at 5:45. Tickets may be purchased from the park ticket man at the square.

A lengthy program is being arranged for the afternoon's enjoyment. There will be free rides on the various park amusements, including the chute, merry-go-round and the new caterpillar. Free dancing lessons will also be on the program. Races and sports, both for boys and girls with plenty of prizes for the winners will bring the afternoon to a close.

Convictions for operating while under the influence of liquor totaled 94, this being 17 less than in the previous week. During the six-day period, licenses of 138 operators became suspended, from court records and other sources, that they had been driving after imbibing.

Of the 94 convicted last week, five were to jail. Three others were convicted of second offenses, and of these, one paid a fine, and the other two, sentenced to jail, appealed.

Four hundred and twenty-nine persons were notified that their driving licenses had been suspended, this being by far the largest number in any one week of the present year.

In addition to the 138 liquor cases, there were others for the following causes: Improper operation, 21; operating recklessly and so on to danger the public, 30; going away after accident without disclosing identity of the owner, 4; operating without license, 10; improper equipment, 37; fatal accidents, 16; miscellaneous offenses, 6.

KIDDIES' DAY AT MERRIMACK PARK

Between 3000 and 3500 kiddies are expected to be at Merrimack Park Friday afternoon when the "Monster Kiddies' day," which is being planned by Arthur L. LeBonie, the park manager, will be staged.

A big feature of the day will be the ten cent round trip ticket on the electric, a five-cent fare cash way, which is a 15-cent reduction over the regular price. To get the special rate the children must ride on the special cars which will leave the square at 1:15 o'clock and return at 5:45. Tickets may be purchased from the park ticket man at the square.

A lengthy program is being arranged for the afternoon's enjoyment. There will be free rides on the various park amusements, including the chute, merry-go-round and the new caterpillar. Free dancing lessons will also be on the program. Races and sports, both for boys and girls with plenty of prizes for the winners will bring the afternoon to a close.

With those attractions as headlines for one of the most enjoyable kiddies' days ever staged by the management, a large attendance is looked forward to.

When the end of the day comes a rollin' around and your energy's running on low, it's often the truth that your spirit's not sound and ambition blood ceases to flow.

You drag you along on your homeward-bound way, just a listless old hulk of a man. You've used up your strength in the work of the day; but you hang on, as long as you can.

Yet, why do you fret about fagging all out? Your system can't always be mellow. It's bound to be giving when work is your living. Why, that's only human, old fellow.

You ought to remember that nature is wise, and life knows what's best. They're really the things that put tired in your eyes and demand that you need a good rest.

So, don't get the grumps and go down in the dumps. Get rest that is needed by men. When the sun's up tomorrow, 'twill dawn out your sorrow and start you all over again.

AMERICAN BOY SCOUTS WIN PRIZE CUP

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 18.—The American Boy Scouts were awarded the highest number of points for their participation in the international scout jamboree which ended here yesterday, thus winning the prize cup offered by King Christian. The Americans scored 181 points against 172 for the British scouts who took second place. The award is unanimously endorsed by the newspapers this morning.

The Politiken remarks that when the king reviewed the scouts yesterday "the Americans for the first time saluted with their flag, which was not even lowered at the review by Sir Robert Baden-Powell."

DRUNKEN DRIVERS AND AUTO ACCIDENTS

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Aug. 18.—That drunken motorists are slow to learn the desirability of sobriety is shown by the fact that one Massachusetts driver was last week found guilty for the fourth time on a charge of operating while under the influence of liquor. He was sentenced to jail, but appealed.

During the week which ended Thursday night last, five auto accidents in which six children were killed in motor vehicle accidents in this state, the total being three less than for the previous week.

Thaw Joins Church and Becomes Town Fireman in "Comeback" Fight

LATEST PICTURE OF HARRY K. THAW

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AND REV. W. H. WOODS, THE PASTOR

CHIEF J. H. DUNN OF THE THAW FIRE COMPANY, WHO WILL TEACH THAW TO BE A FIREMAN, AND THE HELMET THAW WILL WEAR.

By N. E. A. Service

WINCHESTER, Va., Aug. 18.—Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, once legally adjudged insane and mentally perverted, has determined to win a place in respectable society from which for years he had been excluded as a menace.

No more difficult spot in America for his battle with public opinion could have been found than Winchester, Va., the little city he has chosen as his future home.

This small town which nestles in the Blue Ridge at the head of the Shenandoah valley is the home of conservatism and stronghold of first families of the

MRS. A. D. KENNEY AND TWO CHILDREN, THAW'S NEAREST NEIGHBORS

To the Officers and Members of the Charley Rouse Fire Co.:

I respectfully make application for membership in the Charley Rouse Fire Co., Inc. I will be governed by the Constitution and By-Laws of the company, and pledge my support for its future welfare and success. I am not a member of any other fire company in Winchester, Va.

Approved: Respectfully submitted,

H. K. Thaw, Jr.

THAW'S APPLICATION TO JOIN THE CHARLEY ROUSE FIRE COMPANY.

Town All Upset

His advent already has torn the town into opposing factions, bids fair to wreck the leading church, has occasioned a demonstration of the hooded knight and precipitated a social war.

Thaw is in earnest about becoming a leading citizen. He has attended and seeks to join the Presbyterian church, subscribed to all the leading charities and enrolled in the Charley Rouse volunteer fire department, a leading social organization.

Old line conservatives view his success with horror. The church deacons have been criticized for reserving a special pew for him. The clergyman, the Rev. R. E. MacFaden, has been heated for dining three times with Thaw and then inviting him to membership.

MacFaden has left town for his vacation and the burden of deciding the case has fallen on his substitute, the Rev. W. H. Woods.

"It isn't always wise to tear up your coat by bringing in a disturbing element," Woods said. "Still, sinners must be reached by the church."

When the millionaire put in a crisp new $20 yellowback in the collection plate on his first day, other members, not to be outdone, made large donations, many of them topping his offering.

The trouble started when J. B. Russell, Union bank president, church pillar and social leader, called on the Thaws. His visit opened the way for MacFaden and others and gave his enemies a chance to say he had allowed wealth to overcome family reserve.

Mayor-elect Dr. J. F. Ward has tried to bridge the gap among his townsmen. He served notice Thaw must be given a square deal, but at the same time too great familiarity must be discouraged. He believes that "the prayers of the righteous availeth much," but doesn't favor mixing them up with prayers of the unproved and untitled.

That Kenilworth may not become the scene of city folk's high life, the Ku Klux Klan paraded to let the community know it intended to check up.

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, hearing that Thaw was going to stock his farm with pigs, rabbits, chickens and other domestic beasts took alarm. Mrs. Robert Ward, R. P. C. A. president, recalled that Thaw was accused of biting rabbits, and set the society's 50 members on watch.

Miss Augusta Conrad made a visit to Kenilworth and saw a cat running about without a tail. Her excitement abated when it proved to be one of a bob-tailed variety. She has promised to have Thaw arrested if animals on his place come to grief.

Becomes a Fireman

This city of 7000 souls which has never had even the excitement of seeing a street car nearly collapsed when directors of the Rouse Fire company admitted the famous stranger. Every Virginia town prides itself on its fire companies. Now the Saratoga and Friendship companies are scouting the Rouse of taking in the rich Plattsburgher for the sake of his money. J. H. Dunn, engineer, says if the new member can't make the grade and become a good smoke-catcher, out he'll go, money or no.

But while Winchester's tea parties are alluring with gossip and the business men stand about debating the problem, Thaw himself is having no picnic.

He keeps a secretary at the George Washington hotel to act as a buffer between him and the country folk who look upon him as a bonanza. They come from miles around to offer everything from hound dogs to antiques for sale.

Three country maids have offered to forsake the milk stool to become his bride. All day the curious besiege him for just a glimpse, a word or a signature in a name album.

The way he meets his problem is illustrated by an incident at the People's drug store. Two girls were slipping sodas when one said:

"I'd love to see this man Thaw."

"The other answered: 'I wouldn't be scared to death. He might kill me.'"

Thaw stepped up and, touching the frightened one on the arm said: "I'm Harry Thaw. I killed a man in a just cause and I have no regret. But I'll never harm anyone else—especially a little girl!"

Everywhere he goes, the town gaze follows. He walks erect, with quick, nervous steps, his unusual height, gray hair, deep-lined face and athletic figure marking him apart.

Mother Often With Him

Behind him is the ever-faithful A. J. Corns, four years his personal attendant and bodyguard. Usually his secretary accompanies him on one side while his mother walks on the other.

It is she who will win the town. Though 82 years old, she still looks after her boy. Big, broad, white-haired, majestic woman, slightly bent by years and tribulation, she is

CY YOUNG TWIRLS WELL FOR OLD TIMERS

CLEVELAND, August 18.—Scoring seven runs in the fourth inning, the Old Timers' Professional Baseball team, composed of players who participated in the National and American leagues a decade or more ago, defeated a team composed of old time sandlot players 8 to 3, in a five inning game yesterday.

The game was the feature of Amateur day, sponsored by the Cleveland Amateur Baseball and Athletic association, to raise funds to provide medical aid for sandlot players and finance youngsters' teams.

Cy Young, the only pitcher to win 500 games in the major leagues, and "Chief" Zimmer, his battery mate on the old Cleveland "Spiders," formed the battery for the old time leaguers for two innings. That Young retains much of his cunning was evidenced by the fact that he allowed only three hits. The only run scored off him was the result of a single which Nap Lajoie, the greatest second baseman of his time, was unable to reach.

Young was relieved by Helme Berger, who pitched one inning, during which time the sandlot players obtained two hits and one run. Their other run was made off Glenn Liebhart, who allowed three hits in two innings.

While the veterans were holding the sandlot players to these eight hits, they obtained 18, including four doubles off four ex-sandlot pitchers.

Other stars on the former major leaguers' team included Congalton, Larry Twitchell, Elmer Flick, Terry Turner and Nick Altrock.

Altrock surprised the 20,000 fans by stealing a base and obtaining a single. Congalton lined out three hits, including a double in his fourth time at bat; Turner three hits out of three, including a double, and Liebhart two singles in his two times at bat. On his only appearance at bat Lajoie hit a double play with the bases loaded.

WHAT BECOMES OF GIRLS WHO FADE IN MOVIES?

N.E.A. Service Writer.

HOLLYWOOD, August 18.—Department stores, kitchens, laundries are some of the ports of "missing girls" who have forsaken the movies or been forsaken by them, says Henry Otto, who has probably employed as many beautiful extras as any contemporary picture director.

Otto has kept an accurate record of hundreds of movie novices employed in his productions during the past two years.

Of 541 extra players he has attempted to trace since their advent at the motion picture studios.

One hundred four have married. Seventy have become store clerks. Thirty-one have enrolled in business schools.

One hundred twelve work in laundries.

Ten have gone to the speaking stage.

One hundred thirty-two have remained in the movies, three of that number having been promoted to featured prominence.

The whereabouts of 158 is unknown.

According to Otto's unusual record, the number above accounted for were women of exceptional beauty and grace. Some were uneducated while others had college training. Some were girls of considerable culture, and a majority of them were unusually ambitious.

Approximately one-fifth the girls who within the past two years entered the first fringe of pictures under Director Otto's observation have managed in some fashion to survive the vicissitudes of the profession. And that is rather a high proportion in a broader survey of the industry's personnel.

Otto's comment on the "port of missing extras" was contained in his scanning of card indexes identifying players for his Fox feature productions. "The Temple of Venus" and still the grande dame of a great family.

Hurry to her is still the spoiled child she's done so much to rear. He still flies into tantrums and she still subdues and mollifies him.

At the hotel, he demands instant service. If he is delayed he curses like a trooper, stamps his feet or pounds his hands on table or desk. He's never still, but speaks nervously, his eyes roving and seldom resting long on any object.

Mrs. Thaw gives trouble by her generally. In one day at the George Washington hotel she distributed $100 in $5 bills to servants who had suffered from her boy's tongue-lashings and temper.

Thaw makes no apologies for killing White. He is proud of taking the law into his own hands. In this he has the sympathy of the valley where unwritten law is strong.

Nor does he take the Ku Klux Klan seriously. He says he has come to live where he can have rest and quiet and get back to nature. If he tires of that, he says, he can reach West Virginia from his house by driving four and one-half miles, Maryland in an hour and the city of Columbia or Pennsylvania in three hours.

The insanity plea of the Frankes slayers has increased interest in Thaw. People wonder whether they will eventually be released if sent to an asylum.

For the first time in his life the millionaire proposes to work. He's going to do overalls and do farm work strictly correct nothing but a well-stocked library for recreation among his books on European history, which is his hobby.

He's not yet in his home which is being remodeled, but motors in from Cresson, Pa., with his mother each week. Usually he is accompanied by two physicians.

Town Is Very Quiet

The place he has chosen seems ideal. The town is quiet to a degree. Its 17 different religious denominations seem to it that its blue laws are so strictly enforced nothing but a smile can be had on Sunday, except religious services.

It is peopled by well-off farmers whose apple lands bring big returns. Kenilworth, the Thaw place, is a great lime-stone, vine-clad pile with true colonial lines of the old slave days type. For 100 years it has been the home of the Stephensons and was built 50 years before they came. It is four and one-half miles from town, stands a throw from the scene of Sharps' famous victory, the Thermopole of the Civil war, and is famous for the finest spring in the country. The building was spared during the battle because it was used as a hospital. The grounds comprise 85 acres.

"Dante's Inferno," are soon to be released.

British women are greater stage actresses than their American sisters, but our movie stars far surpass British feminine screen players, says Maurice Elvey, lately director in chief for Stoll Pictures of London, now a member of the William Fox studio directorial staff.

The poise and voice of the Englishwomen, says Elvey, gives the man edge on the speaking stage. Early training in dramatics and allied arts and unusual educational advantages are features in the latter's supremacy.

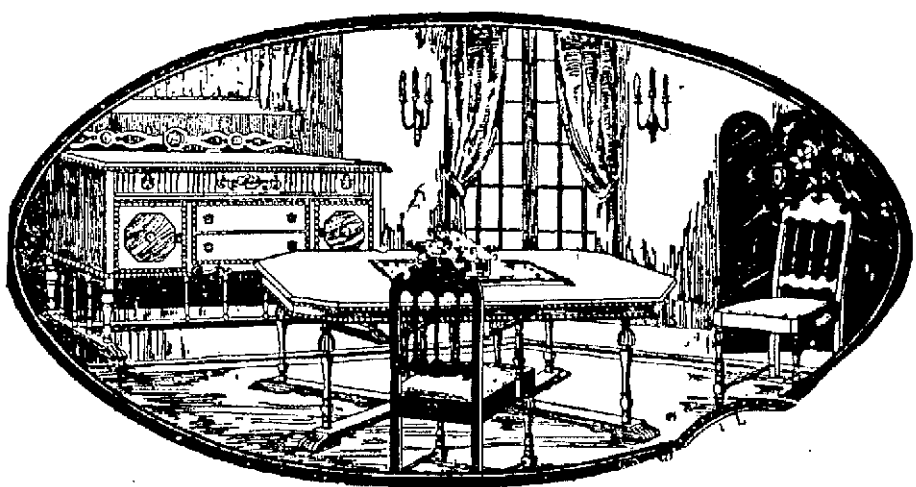

On the other hand, the American movie actress is easily paramount in vivacity and ability to mimic, says the man who is known in European pictures and theatrical circles as "the director of lovely women."

"Her Husband's Wives," a story by Barbara La Marr, is to be Elvey's initial production at the Fox studios.

DAZZY VANCE WILL ATTEMPT TO HALT SENSATIONAL PIRATES

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The cold, clammy, and the heat of the Pirates—now the most vibrant forces in the National League—will clash when the pitching sensation of the season faces the victory-mad Buccaners in the series which Brooklyn begins at Pittsburgh today.

Vance, winning twenty of twenty-four starts this year and capturing his last eight games with astonishing ease, will attempt to check a team which seems a pennant after administering four consecutive beatings to the Giants whose lead they reduced to three games.

The Robins invade Forbes field fresh from a double victory at Cincinnati yesterday by scores of 9 to 4 and 5 to 5. Rixey and Donohue were knocked from the box but Dillut, recalled from the Florida league, held the Pittsburgh sluggers silent in the last five innings of the second game. Donohue and Ehrhardt pitched creditably for the winners.

Chesty Edict Brings Fame to Pitcher Thurston

Each year produces one or more new pitching sensations.

Last season George Uhle of Cleveland and Adolph Lake of Cincinnati were the bright shining stars.

It is baseball history that few pitchers have ever had two big years in succession. Apparently with as much stuff as ever, Lake and Uhle have been unable to win consistently this year.

In the American league Hollis Thurston of Chicago has supplanted Uhle in the spotlight, while Emil Yde, of the Pirates, is the big noise in the National.

Unlimited confidence in his ability to make good has made possible the great success that has come to Thurston this year.

Had Thurston been content to warm the bench, act as relief twirler, in general play the role of second-string pitcher, he would probably still be with the St. Louis Browns, unknown to fame.

ABBOT WORSTEDS BACK TO SELECT DEFENDERS OF DAVIS CUP

Abbott Worsted dropped back into second place in the Greater Boston Twilight standing yesterday, by losing a heart-breaking 6 to 5 verdict to St. Andrew's at Granville. With the game apparently tucked away in the ninth, the Abbots lapsed, and when the frame was over their opponents had pushed five big markers over the plate and won.

In accomplishing the stunt, five hits were made off Perlica, including three singles, a triple and a home run, the wicked willow-wielders being Faulkner, Collins and Carroll with singles, and Abbott with a triple and Horan with a homer.

St. Andrew's proved that a ball game is never over until the last man is out. Until the fatal ninth, the Abbots were leading by a score of 5 to 1, and with every member of the team going great guns, it looked like an easy win and a chance to jump into the leading position in the league standing.

But Abbotts lost, and now they stand a half game in arrears of the fighting North Cambridge nine. Abbotts meet North Cambridge at Russell field in the university city next Saturday. South Boston comes to Granville tomorrow night and Malden will be the opponent at Malden Wednesday. If Abbotts capture these two games, they will still have a chance to cop top honors by defeating the Canbats Saturday.

1. If a runner over slides a base after he has been declared safe by the umpire and then is touched out before he can regain the base, is he credited with a stolen base?—H. L. L.
  2. Catcher blocks the base runner without having the ball in his possession. He so prevents him from reaching the base that he is able to touch him out on the arrival of the throw from the outfield. How should the umpire rule on such a play?—H. K. O.
  3. If a batted ball first strikes foul, rolls a considerable distance in foul territory, and then settles on fair ground between home and third, is it fair or foul?—G. K. T.
- Answers
1. The base runner does not receive credit for a stolen base if he, in attempting such a steal, over slides and is touched out before he can regain the bag.
  2. The runner is entitled to score. When a fielder blocks a base runner without the ball in his possession, the runner is entitled to that base which he was prevented from reaching by the obstruction of the fielder.
  3. It is a fair ball. If it finally settles on fair territory between home and third, despite the fact that it first struck foul.

Billy Evans SAYS

The baseball fan is with the underdog. His sympathies in a hectic struggle for the major league pennant are always with the club that has never tasted the sweets of victory.

The present battle for the leadership of the American league is a bitter one, just the kind to bring out the feelings of a fanatical fan.

The baseball fan hates the conqueror, and immediately starts pulling for some other team to upset the dope the following season.

Once a ball club demonstrates its superiority over a period of years, by winning a pennant annually, the fans take sides against it.

In every city of the circuit, with the exception of the home-town folks, the rosters lend their assistance in trying to dethrone the many-time winner.

Both New York clubs at present find themselves in such a position. The baseball world at large is against them.

Beat the Giants and the Yankees seems to be the slogan of the baseball world. It appears to be quite a task. Fandom, however, is pulling strongly for such a happening.

The Giants are going serenely on their way to another pennant. It is almost a certainty that part of this year's world series will be staged in New York.

The Yankees are finding the going more harder in the American league. The experts figured both clubs to win at the start of the season. While the Giants are the class of the Nationals, things are different in the Johnsonian organization.

With the season half over in the American, seven clubs still had a chance.

Now that it is more than two thirds finished, four clubs are in the running, with a couple of dark horses still in the race.

Unquestionably the Washington club has been the hot favorite of the fans the country over in the present battle for American league honors.

The sensational sport of the Nationals thrilled the baseball world, and caused the fans to pull for Manager Stanley Harris and his bustling club.

Washington, a club usually well down in the race, a club that has never boasted a pennant winner, at once became the popular choice of the fans.

New York has won for three successive years. Back in 1906, '07, '08, Detroit turned such trick. Fandom figured a new champion would help baseball and at once transferred its loyalty to the Washington club.

The recent slump of the Nationals, and the sport of the St. Louis Browns, has caused a majority of the baseball enthusiasts to start pulling for the success of either club.

Truly the path of a champion in any sport is filled with much weep, for there is always a desire to knock off the title holder.

For further particulars, we refer you to Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants and Miller Huggins of the Yankees.

NASHUA DEFEATED BY THE SILESIA

The rejuvenated Silesia mill ball club of North Chelmsford trimmed Nashua by the lopsided score of 8 to 4 last Saturday afternoon. The Silesia batsmen, no longer fearing the famed no-hit, no-run twirler, McCarthy, slammed his offerings for 11 safe singles while Steve Greene, high was holding his opponents to nine well-scattered smashes.

Jack Gilmore, star right fielder of the Silesians, was the batting head of the fray. His triple with the bases loaded was the feature stunt of the day. Fied also connected for a triple during the game, and every North Chelmsford player, with the exception of Sullivan got one hit. Fully didn't have to hit, as his mates piled up the runs with ease.

Nashua's defeat took that team down a peg in the Central league standing. Silesia was figured as easy meat, but the dope went wrong and the millmen came through with a well-earned win. Ware will be the attraction at North Chelmsford Thursday night.

BLOOMER GIRLS ARE TOUGH BALL PLAYERS

The American Bloomer girls, the only female baseball team in the country in these parts, "defeated" Belvidere's Belms, 8 to 7, at Alumni field Saturday afternoon. The Belms gave the girls the game when they refused to take their last turn at bat. Refusal to keep this date cost them a possible win.

The game produced a lot of comedy. The Belms batted right and left handed, the outfielders played infield position, and the batters ran the bases counter-clockwise. Harriet Smith, the Grover Alexander of the female ranks, did mound duty for the visitors. As a pitcheress she looked very good, throwing the ball to the batters with speed and accuracy. Her support was not of the best, however, although Shortstop Nellie Baum and Third Base-mann Catherine Acorn turned in some brilliant plays.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO PAT MORAN

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—A memorial tablet to Pat Moran who brought to Cincinnati in 1919 the first world's baseball championship in fifty years, will be unveiled at Redland field today, preceding the baseball game between the Red and the New York Giants.

The tablet, bearing a relief of the Red leader, was dedicated this season, was made possible through subscriptions sent by fans all over the country. K. M. Landis, commissioner of the National League, Ban Johnson, of the American league, and others will deliver addresses.

LUCASON RETAINS SWIMMING TITLE

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Adam Lucason of Worcester defended his one-mile N. E. A. A. U. championship title against a large field of excellent swimmers yesterday afternoon in the feature race in which representatives from all the beaches of the city competed.

Lucason took the honors for another year, covering the distance in 24 minutes, 24 seconds. He has made better time in other swims but the conditions were not ideal. The water was rough. About 20,000 persons gathered at Henshaws beach to watch the contest.

The mile swim was the most interesting of the afternoon, with a field of 15 going over the course in Dorchester bay. The swimmers in the pre-liminary races over held in South Boston. The winner secured an early lead, but had to fight all the rest of the way to keep it.

Tom Kenny, who finished second, made a fine effort. At times he had the lead. On the last lap, however, Lucason showed more strength and won by a narrow margin, only a few yards. The swimmers in the contest were some distance behind the two leaders.

In the other contests there was no rivalry.

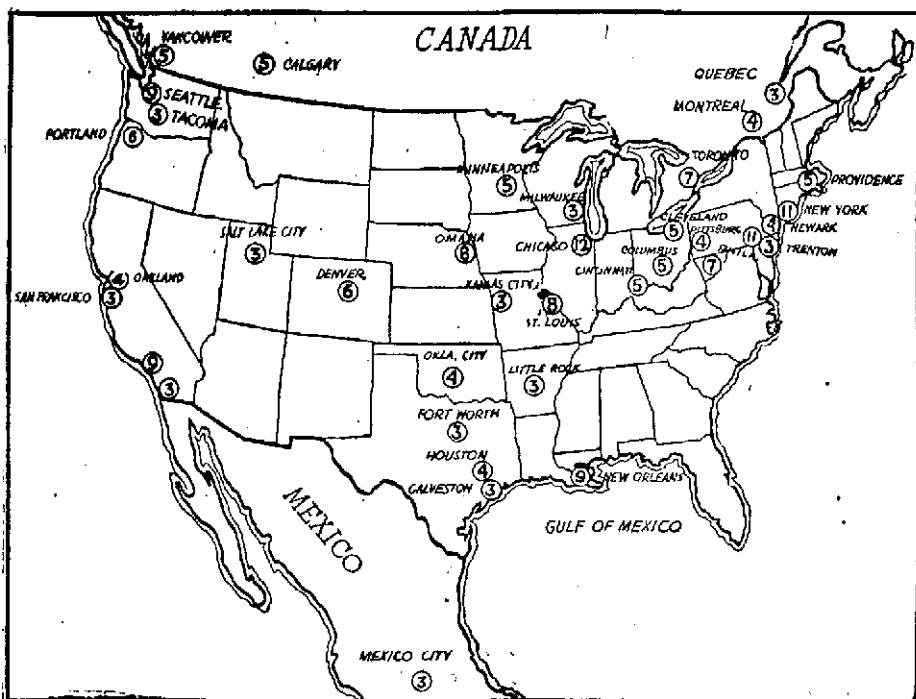

William Lynch won first in three of the events. Jerry Gallacher took first honors in two of the junior events.

Dry Cell Tube in Four-Tuner Circuit Makes Simple, Efficient Set

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

N.E.A. Service Radio Editor

For simplicity and ease in construction, coupled with efficiency and practicability, the single dry cell four-tuner circuit is hard to beat.

It has few parts, which can be easily hooked up, and the whole set shouldn't cost more than $25.

The parts are:

One four-circuit coil, A, B, C and D.
Two variable condensers, C1 and C2.
One grid leak and condenser, H.

One rheostat, 30 ohms.
One dry tube socket, E.
One fixed condenser, .00025 mfd., J.

One switch lever, seven switch points and two stops.
Eight binding posts.

One phone jack, double circuit if amplifier is to be added.
Rus wire for connections.

The entire set may be mounted on a 7-inch by 12-inch panel and an 8-inch by 12-inch baseboard.

The four-circuit coil may be bought at any radio store, but it can easily be made at home. It is wound as follows:

Coil C is the secondary, consisting of 66 turns No. 18 DSC copper wire. It is wound on the other end of the tube, while coil B, the stabilizer, made of the same wire, is wound 44 turns about the tube between coils A and C.

The antenna tuning coil, D, consists of 43 turns of No. 18 DSC wire, on a tube 3 1/2 inches in diameter by 1 1/2 inches long. It is placed above C and at right angles to it.

Coil D would give better results if double bank wound, but in any event it is to be tapped at the start, and at the 3rd, 7th, 13th, 21st and last turn.

The tube for this circuit is UV-125, or a C-285, with three dry cells for the A battery and a tapped 45-volt B battery.

A 100-foot antennae is best for this set.

For loud speaker use, the addition of a simple amplifier circuit is necessary.

GAIN AND LOSS

While an increase was shown in the number of Class A and Class B stations in this country on July 1, the number of Class C and Class D stations has fallen off considerably.

There are now 377 Class A, 64 Class B, 161 Class C and 2 Class D stations.

World's largest loud speaker, 14 feet wide at the mouth, was claimed at the recent fair at Leipzig, Germany.

VARIABLE CONDENSER

Variable condensers must be kept perfectly clean for good reception. Dust may cause leakage from rotor to stator plates. They may be cleaned with the use of an ordinary pipe cleaner.

RADIO WILL HELP IN OCEAN SURVEY

By N.E.A. Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Army, navy and other government departments interested in radio are planning the participation of this form of communication in a proposed hydrographic survey of the waters of the world.

Not only is radio to help facilitate this survey, but in return it may gain considerable assistance toward solution of some perplexing radio problem. The survey is expected to begin within a year, and to last several years.

The main purpose of the expedition is to find means to prevent marine disasters and bring about better transportation and communication at sea. The ship, personnel and itinerary have not yet been decided upon, although its job is clearly mapped out.

The ship will be equipped with the most modern radio transmitting and receiving apparatus, besides all sorts of sound instruments and other varieties needed for hydrographic work.

Two investigations will also be made in the field of radio. They will cover the mysteries of static and "dead spots." Dead spots especially will be charted with the idea of routing ocean liner lanes around these areas, so that ships may be sure of being in constant touch with land.

INVENTOR PICTURES IDEAL NEUTRODYNE

The ideal neutrodyne receiver, according to Prof. L. A. Hazeltine, its inventor, would be a single control set, without any external wires whatsoever, the entire receiver mounted in a cabinet about three or four feet high.

Two difficulties in the way of this accomplishment are the lack of uniformity of condensers and, dependent on this, the changes in antenna capacities.

Since the three tuning dials on a neutrodyne receiver are nearly alike for the same wavelength, Hazeltine points out, manufacture of truly uniform condensers would enable the use of a single gear control for the condensers and one shaft for all three rotors of the neutroformers.

With this possible, the antennae could then be made part of the set.

THE VOICE FROM WOAW

Station WOAW boasts a poet laureate in Eugene Konevsky. He is no mere announcer. He writes poetry and recites it via the microphone. WOAW is the broadcasting station of the Woodmen of the World at Omaha, Neb., one of the finest in the country. Besides reciting his own poetry, he gives his listeners a chance by reading the verses of other poets, especially on national holidays.

YOUR OWN AERIAL

A novel suggestion to avoid static, and replace an indoor loop aerial, is your own aerial! This one fan suggests, may be accomplished by starting on a couple of tin cans and touching the antenna post with a wet forefinger and thumb.

OVER THE HIGHEST TOP

The peak of the highest mountain range in the world, the Himalayas, is apparently crossed with ease when the new French radio station in Indo-China communicates directly with the station at Bordeaux.

Eight German cities have broadcasting stations.

The water in the storage battery should never be allowed to run down below the tops of the plates. It impairs reception. Distilled water, not tap, is all that is needed to refill.

GREAT WEATHER FOR OUTDOOR DANCING

The weather conditions recently have been wonderful for outdoor dancing and large crowds have been in attendance at the Commodore ballroom in Thordike street. The management endeavors at all times to care for the wants of the patrons and invites suggestions that will add to the comfort and convenience of those who visit this resort.

Tonight and tomorrow night there will be check dancing with Minerva's orchestra furnishing the music. All the latest numbers are featured and the music is always of superior brand. The floor is kept in first class condition, being under the eye of an expert. The admission on both evenings is 10 cents.

Another "Old Timers" night will be held Wednesday evening with Joe Hibbard's orchestra playing all the old dance favorites. There will be up-to-date numbers and latest hits for those who like to fox-trot.

Great Britain has nearly 700,000 receiving sets.

More than 100 manufacturers exhibited apparatus at Germany's first radio show recently.

WHN, New York, will broadcast a program every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evening.

British broadcasters are inviting American playwrights to participate in their radio play contest.

Hotel majestic, New York, now is on the air with its own broadcasting station, WFBH.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter I

After Jack Daw's experiences on the great iceberg, the young adventurer was glad to get back on the old sailing vessel Betsy Chaire. It had been pretty cold in the land of the Eskimos and Jack looked forward to going to the African jungle, which the captain was telling him all about.

The great map which the captain held in his hand was very interesting to look at. "This is the place where we land," explained the old captain, as he pointed to a spot on the map marked Timbuctoo. Some of the other sailors gathered around them and listened to the captain explain what was in store.

"How long will it take us to get there?" inquired Jack. "Oh, not so very long, if the wind keeps up," came the reply. Then another sailor spoke up and said, "Let's have some excitement on board while we're sailing along." And then he held up a pair of boxing gloves. (Continued.)

SEN. LA FOLLETTE LABOR LEADER THANKS A. F. OF L. SUPPORTS DAVIS

Expresses Appreciation for Endorsement of Candi-
dacy by Executive Council

Declares His Policy is "Conservation of Human Rights"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Expressing confidence that "in the end we shall be victorious," Senator La Follette, independent candidate for president, declares in a letter to the non-partisan political committee of the American Federation of Labor his appreciation and that of his running mate, Senator Wheeler of Montana, for the endorsement of their candidacy by the organization's executive council.

Although it may be "branded as radical by the forces we are fighting," he said, "ultimate objective" of the independent campaign "in its essence" is "conservative" since it "is a policy of conservation of human rights." This aim, he asserts, "has never been more accurately fittingly described" than by the statement in the message notifying him formally of the council's endorsement that it is "the restoration of government to its sole rightful purpose—the service of the masses of the people."

The American labor movement, he adds, had "been a prime factor in every enterprise for the conservation of human rights, human lives and those great resources with which nature so lavishly endowed our country for the use and enjoyment of its people."

Maj. Berry, President of Pressmen's Union Not
With La Follette

Declares He Will Support
Candidacy of John W.
Davis and Gov. Bryan

EARLY MORNING FIRES IN W. CHELMSFORD

Two public buildings in West Chelmsford were damaged Saturday by fires which are believed to have been of incendiary origin. The first fire was at the ladder house, where a considerable quantity of town property is stored. This blaze was discovered at 1.30 a. m. by two residents of the town and was quickly extinguished by the town fire department. Damage was slight.

The second fire was in an outhouse at about 3.45 a. m. The outhouse was a mess of flames when the apparatus arrived and firemen turned their efforts to saving the school building proper. The building in which the fire originated was completely destroyed.

Investigations of both fires were immediately started by fire and police authorities of the town.

WASHINGTON PASTOR IN NEARING CENTURY MARK LOWELL PULPIT

Philip P. Haggerty Reaches Ninety-seventh Milestone
Along Life's Highway

Well Known Student and Teacher of Music Still Quite Active

Dr. William S. Abernethy, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Washington, D. C., preached at the First Baptist church yesterday. The late President Warren Harding attended the Abernethy church in Washington, and Secretary of State Hughes is also a member of it.

Before presenting his sermon, the visiting pastor paid his respects to the First Baptist church history and membership, and referred to Dr. Smith T. Ford, a former pastor of the local religious organization, who left Lowell at the close of his local pastorate, going to Chicago, which was the Abernethy's home church.

The Abernethy morning sermon topic was "Is It Too Hard?" In the evening, he addressed a large congregation from the topic, "The Heart Side of God in Human Terms."

In the morning, the pastor drew his texts from both the old testament and the new testament. He contrasted the teachings of Christ with the policy of Jeremiah, who sought to gain and to retain followers by appealing to their love of ease. Continuing he said:

"There were people, I have no doubt, in Jeremiah's day, who took his view. But Jeremiah gained a reputation for himself as the man who caused Jericho to fall. It is easy to get a reputation. Anyone of you can get his name in the papers tomorrow morning and get a reputation thereby, if you are not particular about the kind of reputation. A man can beat up his wife and do a little bootlegging, and get a reputation. Jeremiah became known as the beginning source of idolatry, but the thing did not work in the long run."

The pastor declared that it is not easy to lead the Christian life, but one of the hardest things he knows of. The appeal that Jesus makes, strikes into the hearts of men and women today. It appeals to the deeper natures always.

Dr. Abernethy referred to the Spanish-American war and the appeal that it made to college boys. They were advised not to enlist, but to remain in the schools of learning, the reason given being that the country needed them in the future. College professors who taught this doctrine, were not true psychologists. Nearly every boy in some colleges enlisted for the war.

The visiting clergyman, after the morning services, taught the senior and adult classes in the First Baptist Bible school. Many who were not regular attendants, remained to receive instruction.
